"Sanitary Ice Cream" an article in Literary Digest of September 4 is well worth reading. It says in part: "It has generally been regarded as fact that the low temperature maintained during the storage of ice cream suffices to destroy the bacteria. The investigation by Stiles in Washington and Pennington, in Philadelphia, has shown the fact to be correct, but not generally decreased by storage.

A Little Talk About Dress

Dress, as the great queen of a great nation said, "is the one outward sign from which people in general can and often do judge upon the internal state of mind and feeling of a person."

The late King Edward VII. was called during his lifetime the best dressed man in Europe. International cables conveyed all over the civilized world the news of any change in his attire.

Queen Victoria, his mother, was a serious-minded lady, of the most conventional correctness, who was not thought to take nearly enough interest in the lighter phases of life. But she paid great attention to the correctness of all toilets that came within her ken.

When King Edward was the Prince of Wales, and just fifteen, his royal mother wrote him a letter that still exists. It read:

"Dress is a trifling matter which ought not to be raised to too much importance in our own eyes. But it gives also the one outward sign from which people in general can and often do judge upon the internal state of mind and feeling of a person, for this they all see, whilst the other they cannot see. On that account it is of some importance, particularly in persons of high rank. I must now say that we do not wish to control your own taste and fancies, which, on the contrary, we wish you to indulge and develop, but we do expect that you will never wear anything extravagant or slang, not because we don't like it, but because it would prove a want of self-respect and be an offense against decency, leading—as it has often done before in others—to an indifference to what is morally wrong."

Dress and the manner of wearing it are of no mean importance. Dress does not make the man or woman, but it marks them.

Wooltex Clothes

are merely outward signs to our customers, unless they think about them beyond the mere external appearance of the suit or coat or skirt.

But most women look deeper when they go to buy a Suit or Coat.

The makers of Wooltex Coats and Suits are masters in the art of producing stylish tailored garments, but they know, too, that if the style features are retained in a garment during its life of service, the tailoring must be superlatively good.

And with all their style value, their unusually excellent tailoring, their goodness of materials, Wooltex Suits are moderately priced—a thought worthy of considerable attention on your part.

Wonderful New Silks for Autumn in Delightful Display Here

You remember the fairy tale about a prince who set out to find a carpet soft and fine enough to be drawn through the eye of a needle. Seems as if the manufacturers must have had some such object in view when they determined the texture of the soft, filmy, mysterious weavings of colorful harmonies that stir a very rapture—above and beyond any that have preceded.

The fabrics so soft! The colorings so rich! The designs so widely different from any shown before.

Brocades, velvets and plain satins will lead—and we will show tomorrow the very silks that Fashion Leaders have chosen for model gowns.

And prices—ours are so graded that the moderate purse and the lavishly filled alike may satisfy their needs. From the simple lingerie silk at 50c to the most regal brocaded velvets at $10, a long range of many steps covers all demands.

Among latest arrivals are these: Heavy brocaded Cam.

Monday You May Buy $2 and $2.50 White Wool Goods at $1.50 Yard

If a white wool fabric is needed for a suit, coat or dress, Monday will be a good day to buy it. There are plain and novelty materials, a piece or two with black pin stripes, and all of beautiful quality, in perfect condition, 34 to 36 inches wide. One superb piece—a soft-finished whipcord with stripe, a regular $2.50 fabric, is also included at this price for Monday—$1.50.

About Fancy Needlework

Needlecraft will always be a rare and valuable accomplishment. And there are many women who will, through actual preference, embroider their own linen and make their own lingerie.

With these women, needlework is a natural gift. They enjoy it—find pleasure in producing those wonderfully beautiful creations that furnish so much feminine delight.

Everything that is needed in materials is here. In our fancy-work department is to be found all materials necessary for doing needlework of all kinds. Embroidery, knitting and crocheting. Flosses for every purpose. Woools, cottons, linens.

A visit to our fancy-work department will well repay you. There you can learn all about the new stitches, get new and pleasing ideas and obtain any information about any subject that comes within the realm of art needlework.

The Wooltex Suits and Coats for Fall Are Beautiful

There is a great range of choice materials, many of the smartest styles being made up of smooth finished cloths, while others of equal style value have been developed from rough fabrics.

The materials include sponges, sibilines, diagonals, cloths, matelasse, poplins, whipcords, Bedford cords.

Great variety in color effects marks the season's display, and one is not confined to the dull and somber hues usually found in tailored suits. There are rich, happy, ruddy, blue, plum, wistaria, bronze green, taupe, russet, blue and leather.

Suits, $25 to $65. Coats, $20 to $65.

A New Department Has Been Opened Here for Your Pleasure and Profit Victor Victorolas and Records

A little short run by the elevator, on the right of the main aisle, over the shoe department, brings you directly to the new Victor store, where you can, at any hour of the day, hear the new records played, and see the Victorolas in their various sizes and at all prices, from $15 to $400.

The Best Equipped Victor Department in the South

A complete stock of all the new records as they come out and machines at prices which enable everyone to add this pleasure to the home.

Terms arranged to suit your convenience. Second Floor, Over Shoe Store.

First Showing Monday of Beautiful Undermuslins That Were Bought for Special Selling

Representing "quality" and at a very low price. Extremely low, you will agree when you have examined these muslins collectively and garment by garment, and the real facts about this sale will immediately impress themselves upon you—the muslins are priced at considerably less than they were made to sell at.

It Was All Through A Special Purchase

The benefit of which you may share Monday. Every garment new, fresh, good. Of beautiful materials and trimming effects that will win your instant admiration.

Are You Correctly Corseted?

The effect of correct corseting is as pronounced upon one's self as upon others. The position occupied by the Modart Front Laced Corset results from the growing appreciation of that fact by women who judge style keenly.

A Modart can be perfectly laundered without injury to the corset. It gives perfect freedom of action.

For the woman with a weak abdomen it proves an everyday abdominal support.

Modart Front Laced Corsets are priced $5 to $15.

E. D. C. and Teachers of the South.
The United Daughters of the Confederacy could institute a far-reaching influence on the teaching of southern history and on the ideals of southern life by the establishment of a chair of southern history at George Peabody College for Teachers, Nashville, Tenn. The nature and aims of Peabody col-

age and the noble activities of the United Daughters of the Confederacy can be shown to be particularly conducive to such a joint undertaking. It is literally incumbent upon the United Daughters of the Confederacy, who are the acknowledged conservators of those fine inheritances which belong to the southern people, and Upon George Peabody College for Teachers, whose special function it is to act as distributors to the southern people through contact with all the 143,000 teachers of the 3,000,000 southern school children, to unite in working out in concrete fashion the better teaching of southern history.

George Peabody College for Teachers is to spread its activities over the entire south through the teachers it will train, who will fill supervising positions in city, county and state school systems, and will serve as teachers in normal schools and as professors of education in colleges and universities.

Peabody Normal college is now being transformed and reorganized into George Peabody College for Teachers, which is to have the definite aim of giving to the south at least one central teachers' college, and of constantly studying and devising the best methods for the readjustment of our city, county and state school systems to the

Inman Park Girls' Club.

The Inman Park Girls' club was organized just one year ago this month at the residence of Mrs. A. C. Dobbs, with the following officers: Mrs. B. C. Dobbs, president; Miss Pauline Cossley, vice president; Miss Lucy Chapman, secretary; Miss Rose Bell Chapman, corresponding secretary; and Miss Lois Paulillo, treasurer. This club is composed of thirty girls who have found time from their social duties to do many useful things in the way of helping needy families and associated charities, giving liberally to the Orphan's home. In fact, many institutions as well as individuals have been greatly aided by their efforts.

During this year the club has raised over $100, which has all been given to worthy causes.

Last month, for instance, each girl was requested to select with $1, and see how much she could make out of it by the next meeting, which was just one month. The plan worked admirably, and three prizes were awarded by the president to those making the largest amount. The first prize was to Miss Lois Paulillo, who made $10.00 by the sale of her delicious cakes. Miss Lucille Dennis won the second prize, and Miss Marie Miron the third. This club is never idle, some definite work being decided on for each month. Most of the girls are very expert with their needles, and soon the girls will be busy working for their bazaar, which they expect to have annually.

At Aylmer.

One of the happiest instances of country house hospitality by Atlanta hosts this summer was the series of house parties given by Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Byrd at Aylmer, their summer home on the Stowak, for their beautiful school-girl daughter, Miss Gladys Evelyn Byrd.

During the first week of September they entertained twelve guests, and a dancing party was an enjoyable incident. The huge indoor porch was arranged both for living room and dancing floor, and it was picturesque with river cane and bamboo, and lighted by Japanese lanterns. A dance was given in Cartersville by a number of young men, a stable of sail boats and boating and fishing trips were enjoyed.

Twentieth Century Caterer.

The Twentieth century caterer, one of Atlanta's most active study clubs, was planned the year's work, the theme of which will be German and Political Economy, and the first meeting will be October 2 at the residence of Mrs. W. W. Cuckler. The officers are: President, Mrs. W. H. Bessman; vice president, Mrs. W. F. Upham; recording secretary, Mrs. J. M. Gentry; corresponding secretary, Mrs. S. W. McCallie; treasurer, Miss M. A. Nelson; custodian, Mrs. Frances Booth.

The members are Mrs. W. F. Anderson, Mrs. Henrietta R. Barry, Mrs. Bessman, Mrs. James A. Campbell, Mrs. M. G. Campbell, Mrs. Walter G. Cuckler, Mrs. William W. Cuckler, Mrs. W. A. Crowe, Mrs. Homer Dawson, Mrs. Charlotte Dunn, Mrs. William B. Emerson, Mrs. Willie M. Everett, Mrs. J. M. Gentry, Mrs. J. H. Gonsler, Mrs. George O. Jones, Mrs. Will Cole Jones, Mrs. T. L. ## SAGE AND SULPHUR DARKENS GRAY HAIR

It's Grandmother's Recipe to Restore Color, Gloss and Thickness.

Hair that loses its color and lustre, or when it fades, turns gray, dull and thin, is caused by a lack of sulphur in the hair. Our grandmothers made up a mixture of Sage and Sulphur to keep her locks dark and beautiful, and thousands of women and men value that eye color, that beautiful dark shade of hair which is so attractive, use only this old-time recipe. Nowadays we get this famous extract in a 3-cent bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy," which darkens the hair so naturally, so evenly, that nobody can possibly tell it has been applied. Besides, it takes off dandruff, stops scalp itching and falling hair. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with the liquid and rub through hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears, and what remains of the old hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur is that, besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also brings back the gloss and lustre and gives it an appearance of abundance.

DEFEAT FOR CHARTER PREDICTED BY MAYOR

Woodward Not Surprised, However, Present Political Element Remains in Control.

When the tameness of the opposition to the anti-Woodward faction, with that means in the way of municipal policy, became apparent on Saturday in the councilmanic and aldermanic races, Mayor Woodward evinced little surprise.

"I am not surprised," said the mayor, "little else could be expected when the people of the city did not go out and work up an opposition ticket. I am merely sorry that the people have not yet waked up to the crowd that is going rough and over them. If they don't watch out they are going to wake too late, too."

He believes they are going to do the right thing by this factional charter, which has been presented to them, though. The very men who drew the people's charter into the water basket are the ones who drew up this charter. It is nothing but an instrument with which they are planning to increase their grip upon the vitals of the city.

"They did not stop with drawing up a charter to impose upon the people, but railroaded it through the legislature with the proviso that it should be voided in four weeks and so that the registration books could be closed with a short registration. The registration is 4,000 or 5,000 short of an average registration. There is an election in December. Why aren't they willing to wait until then?"

"The people ought to have remembered this set for that trick, but since they didn't the next best thing they can do is to turn out at the polls on the 24th and put their foot on the neck of this monstrosity."

WEARING BLACK MASKS, WORKERS DEMONSTRATE

London, September 13.—The "black masked" workers made their first demonstration in Hyde Park this afternoon in favor of trades unionism following tactics similar to those adopted by the laborer and artisan who held meetings in the vicinity.

All the participants, many of whom were women, were dressed in black, representing a great variety of employment. They marched from the Thames embankment to Hyde Park wearing black masks, with the object of "avoiding victimization."

Handbills carried in the procession informed interested persons that twenty-five per cent of the clerks die of consumption in consequence of the wretched conditions under which they are forced to work.

Speakers drew a lurid picture of the underpayment of the clerks, the unsanitary conditions prevailing in the majority of the offices and stores, and the state driving methods of employers. The leaders called for an organization of clerks.

MOTHER AND CHILDREN WALKING FOR A HOME

Chicago, September 13.—Mrs. Marie Chester and her three children, Alice, 15 years old; Henry, 14; and Charles, 12, arrived here today after having walked from New York city in forty-three days, according to her story. It is her intention to continue their walk to Minneapolis and the entire journey is completed within six weeks, she declares. The business men of Middletown, N. Y., have agreed to build them a $4,000 residence.

"Gettysburg Reunion" Will Feature Concert Today

An original military march entitled "Gettysburg Reunion," and inscribed to the heroes of the blue and gray, will be one of the features at the free Sunday concert by the organist, Frederick Hall, of Philadelphia, this afternoon at the Auditorium. The program will be in many respects the most remarkable ever offered in Atlanta, and will be colored by the personality of the distinguished young organist, who is also a composer. It will contain two or three of his own works. Mr. Hall composed the military march as a composer's small tribute to the greatness of spirit that made possible during the past summer such a noble example of brotherhood as has never been known in the history of the world. The other original composition he will play is entitled "Rouse Reminiscence," and is his interpretation of a melody which he heard a barefoot French street urchin singing in one of the narrow winding streets leading up the hill to the great cathedral. The program is announced as follows:

Coronation march from "La Prophecie"—Meyerbeer.
Pastorale in E—Gullstrand.
"Night Song," March—Battiste.
"Peer Gynt Suite"—Grieg.
Andante in A (Dancing Partners): (a) "Spring Song," March—Battiste.
Amoretti: Sammartini—Smart.
Toccata and Fugue in D minor—Bach.
"Houses Reminiscence"—Hall.

The concert will begin promptly at 4 o'clock and everybody is invited. This is the first appearance in Atlanta of a young man who has won distinguished eminence in the north and south.

Mr. Hall is a candidate for the position of city organist in Atlanta, left vacant by the resignation of Dr. Percy J. Starnes.

JUDICIAL PROCEDURE COMMISSION FILLED

Governor Appoints Andrew J. Cobb and L. W. Branch to Act With Legislators.

Governor Cobb on yesterday announced the selection of Judge Andrew J. Cobb, of Athens, and L. W. Branch, of Quitman, as members of the commission for the revision of judicial procedure which was provided for by the last legislature. It will be noted that the governor has selected one of the members of the commission from north and the other from south Georgia.

As a former member of the supreme court, Judge Cobb is well known throughout the state. He is also chairman of the committee on revision of judicial procedure of the State Bar association. Mr. Branch is a well known law firm in Georgia with an extensive southwestern Georgia practice.

The commission to revise the judicial procedure of the state is composed of five members of the general assembly, three from the house and two from the senate, in addition to the two appointed by the governor. The legislative committee on the subject is composed of the following: John P. Cheney, of Cobb; chairman; H. W. Hopkins, of Thomas; S. P. Cullender, of Morgan; and Senators O. H. Watkins, of the fifteenth, and D. O. Brown, of the thirty-fourth.

A meeting of the commission will be called in Atlanta at an early date to organize. It will be the duty of the commission to make recommendations in judicial procedure and report to the next meeting of the general assembly.

PREPARE INSTRUCTION BOOK FOR TEACHERS

School Supervisors Hold Meeting in Britain's Office to Arrange for Fall Institutes.

At a meeting of the state supervisors of public schools held yesterday in the office of State Superintendent of Schools M. L. Brittain, it was decided to have prepared a pamphlet on industrial training to be distributed among the teachers of the state and to be used in the county institutes to be held this fall.

The little book will deal particularly with specific instruction in the domestic arts, cooking, sewing and gardening. It will be so arranged that teachers can use it who have not had normal training. The book will be ready for distribution some time in October.

Besides this, the supervisors in conference with Superintendent Brittain made plans for the teachers' institute to be held in the various counties this fall. The board of supervisors is composed of Miss C. E. Parrish, of north Georgia; M. L. Duncan, for middle Georgia; P. E. Jones, for south Georgia; and George G. Ward, special supervisor for work among the negro teachers.

SOUSA'S BAND SECURED FOR ANNUAL AUTO SHOW

Star Feature Signed by Entertaining Atlanta Dealers at Cost of Nearly $10,000.

The show committee of the Atlanta Automobile and Accessory association Saturday afternoon secured the contract which will bring Sousa's band to the automobile show for five days next November.

Each concert will last during an entire afternoon or an entire evening and will be broken up into a number of instalments which will be rendered every other hour, or, perhaps, every other thirty minutes.

To speak of the music-making ability of the band of John Philip Sousa, for more than a quarter of a century the recognized king of march composers, would be to waste words. It will be of interest, however, to say that Atlanta herself and not the big bandmaster is to choose the music she would rather hear. At a time which will be announced later the association is planning to let the citizens of Atlanta submit the names of pieces which they would like to hear Sousa's band play and programs will be made up from these.

The securing of Sousa's band for the show is an achievement, but touched by the doing of any other show that the country has none. New York and Chicago included.

While the actual figure is not released for publication, it is near $10,000 that it is $5,000.

This one item is indicative of the mammoth scale on which this year's show will be staged. The association is going to spare neither pains nor expense to make the 1913 show parallel by none.

LITTLE BOY MANGLED WHEN SHELL EXPLODES

New York, September 13.—Joseph Pizzia, 13 years old, found an odd looking shell in the home of a playmate today and took it to the cellar to find out what it was. He turned it on the pointed end and by playing objects around it made it stand upright. Then he got a hammer.

In the resultant explosion the boy's right hand was blown off, his face burned, his leg badly lacerated and his shoulder cut. The concrete floor of the cellar was blown to atoms and the frame of the house cracked.

Young Pizzia probably will die. It was the shell of a rapid fire gun.

GOOD PROGRESS MADE BY TARIFF CONFEREES

Washington, September 13.—The tariff conferees got along so well today that Chairman Simmons of the senate finance committee, predicted tonight that their report will be made in two houses of congress next week.

The conferees today practically finished the cotton schedule and the flax and hemp schedule. A few paragraphs in each were left for further consideration. In the cotton schedule the senate changes were largely agreed to. The classification of stockings was changed and a slightly higher rate placed upon them.

Flax and hemp were left on the free list, where the senate put them. The paragraphs, relating to bagging and burlap, which caused much debate in the senate, were not acted upon. House leaders insist it is a mistake to take up these articles today but a decrease in revenue of several million dollars annually.

The difficulty over free listing ferro-manganese and pig iron in the steel schedule, the only serious disagreement that so far has developed, was not taken up today but it was believed a settlement would be reached upon it Monday.

General Chamorro, Nicaraguan minister, and other central American diplomats held a further conference today with Secretary Bryan, and it is understood, renewed the protest against the proposed tariff on bananas, included in the tariff bill.

Central American delegation was disappointed in the tariff bill. The position of the tariff would curtail the banana trade and would curtail reciprocal trade relations with the United States now being carried on over cut-throat competition.

Boys' High School Graduates Make Fine Records at College

The citizens of Atlanta should be proud of the excellent training for life given their sons by the faculty of the Boys' High school. While this school labors under many disadvantages, such as a cramped building, with no campus, it has managed to educate its students to a high degree, and since the curriculum has been raised, and the four-year course has been established, a graduate of the Boys' High school can enter any of the large colleges without extra preparation. In these large colleges it will be seen that they have all taken such a stand as would reflect credit on their teachers.

Through the efforts of Professor W. F. Dykes, principal of the Boys' High school, nine scholarships have been given directly to Boys' High school graduates. The Rummell scholarship to Harvard, which is offered to two boys graduating from the preparatory school of seven southern states each year, has been won twice by the Boys' High school boys. While the majority of the school's graduates go to the University of Georgia and other state colleges many of them go to the northern universities, and take a high stand among the best students of the United States. The careers of some of the boys who have graduated from the Boys' High school in the last few years and gone directly to the great universities are given below.

W. H. Mansfield, '12.
William H. Mansfield, son of W. E. Mansfield, of 130 Peoples street, made an exceptional record in his high school and in college. He graduated from the Boys' High school in 1907, when it had only a three-year course. He skipped from the eighth grade grammar school to the second grade high school, preparing in first grade work at home during the summer, took an excellent stand the whole time he was at the Boys' High school and won a scholarship to Harvard university, doing the required work at home the following year. He made a good record at Harvard, where he took a four-year course in three years, which requires much hard work.

He won two scholarships at Harvard and graduated in 1912. He is now working with the Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph company, and attributes much of his success to the solid foundation gained while at the Boys' High school.

Joseph Wilson, '13.
Joseph Wilson, son of Mrs. Kate Wilson, of 11 East Third street, graduated from the Boys' High school in June, 1908, and entered Harvard the next fall. He, with David Jenkins, another member of his class, were the first men to enter a large northern college.

Henry Elliott, '08.
Henry P. Elliott graduated from the Boys' High school in 1908, having completed a successful three-year course. Especially did he excel in declamation and debate, having won a medal for one of these subjects every year he was in the Boys' High school.

He was also the editor of the school's annual and a speaker on graduation night. He was recently elected president of the Dramatic club, in whose plays he always takes the part of a woman, and has shown wonderful histrionic ability.

Norman Cooledge, '09.
Norman Cooledge, the son of Mrs. Mary Cooledge, graduated from the Boys' High school in 1908. He took first honor in his graduating class, having done excellent work the whole time he was at the Boys' High school, and winning a Princeton scholarship. He entered Princeton in the fall of 1909, and has stood high in his classes during the whole course.

Henry Peoples, '08.
After graduating from the Boys' High school in 1908, Henry Peoples, the son of H. C. Peoples, of 111 Piedmont avenue, went to Washington and Lee university, having won a scholarship. He graduated from this college at the end of the present term, and has a successful college career to look back upon. Besides being a good scholar, he is a fine athlete, having without taking an extra year's preparation before the four-year course was established.

He won several scholarships at Harvard, and graduated with honors. He graduated from the Boys' High school in 1908, and graduated with honors. He was a member of the school's athletic team, and was a member of the school's debating team.

He was also the editor of the school's annual and a speaker on graduation night. He was recently elected president of the Dramatic club, in whose plays he always takes the part of a woman, and has shown wonderful histrionic ability.

been elected captain of his class basketball team in his freshman year. He later played on the varsity, and was considered the best first baseman in that section. He was also a popular and capable football star on the varsity team, and made a good record in basketball. The orchestra elected him leader two successive years, and he is a fine one, having had valuable training in the Boys' High school orchestra, of which he was a leading spirit.

James C. Manry, '10.
James C. Manry, son of W. F. Manry, of 14 East Mitchell street, accomplished much during his course in B. H. S. He was at the head of his class in scholarship, and was a fine writer and speaker, winning the James A. Rummell scholarship to Harvard. This scholarship is given for many qualities, leadership and general character, as well as for class standing.

James Manry has taken a four-year course at Harvard in three years. He has received two scholarships while at Harvard, and graduated with first honor in philosophy. He is only 19 years old, and has had offers to go to Kyoto and Atlanta as a professor. He intends to return to Harvard for a M. A. degree, and later take a D. D. degree, as he expects to be a minister.

Howell Foreman, '13.
Howell Foreman, son of R. L. Foreman, of 248 Peachtree street, left a record in B. H. S. for declamation and debate medal-winning. He was class orator on graduation night, and founded the "B. H. S. Tattler" in his freshman year. This paper is very successful, and has been self-supporting from the beginning. He also edited the class annual in 1912.

He won the Rummell scholarship to Harvard last year, and is entering his sophomore year. He has been elected one of the editors of The Harvard Crimson, the college daily paper. He graduated from B. H. S. in 1912, this class being the first to graduate with the four-year course which prepares a boy to enter any of the large colleges, without condition.

Albert Snodgrass, '13.
Albert Snodgrass, son of W. F. Snodgrass, of 281 Lawton street, stood well in scholarship at B. H. S. and was gifted in art work, although not a prominent part in school activities, and was art editor of the class annual of 1912. He found time to make a good income from his art by drawing for the papers, and for some of the largest publishing houses of the city.

He went to the art institute from B. H. S. and has spent one year there already. He has been on the honorable mention list every month since he has been in Chicago, and made the list in the same grade with boys who had been studying art for two or three years. This was considered a great accomplishment by his art teacher.

This example shows that Boys' High school not only furnishes good students, but also develops boys in other ways. While he did not study art at high school, he was enabled through the school paper and annual to express his talent. He worked with Fiske & Davies during the holidays, and is doing well, showing that the foundation gained was commercial as well as scholarly and artistic.

William Matthews, '13.
William Matthews, son of L. C. Matthews, of 12 East Merritt avenue, graduated from B. H. S. under the four-year course, winning honors as a speaker and writer, and conducting the school page in one of Atlanta's daily papers. He won a scholarship to the University of Virginia, and has done good work there. His principal activity outside of his studies is tennis, at which he is an expert. He is very popular with his schoolmates, and is keeping up the high standards made by high school graduates in this city.

The B. H. S. graduating class of 1913 will spread itself over most of the United States. Raemon H. Torrance will go to Harvard on the Greenleaf scholarship, valued at $200. Samuel Armstrong will go to Washington and Lee university. John Lopez will go to Cornell. George Hoyt and Evelyn Hamilton will go to Davidson college, besides others who will go to the University of the South, Emory University of Georgia, Mercer and the University of North Carolina. The graduating class has done good work through the whole course, but the most remarkable thing about it is that, out of a graduating class of thirty-five, thirty will go to college.

W. F. SLATON SCHOOL STARTING BASEBALL

Pupils Wish to Have Best Team in Grammar School League Next Spring.

The W. F. Slaton school opened with a full enrollment this year, but we always have room for one more. The eighth grade is determined to be the best grade in the city, and the pupils of that class surely have a good chance.

We are getting up our baseball team so that we can have plenty of practice before the league opens.

ONNIE A. DOBBE.

To further emphasize the importance of sowing clover, wheat, small grain, etc., to save buying high-priced corn next spring, let us again remind our farmers that the August crop report showed a probable American yield of only $77,000,000 bushels, against 3,134,000,000 bushels last year.

The general condition of corn was placed at 15.1 per cent of a normal, compared with 64.9 per cent, on July 1. Kansas was hit hardest, the condition there having been reduced from 31 per cent, in July, to 10 per cent on August 1.

Okahoma came next with a condition of 44 per cent, against 81 in July, and Nebraska reported 67 per cent, against 91 July 1. These three states have almost 15 per cent of the total area planted in corn this year.

This is over 15 per cent of the class, and this record will hardly be found in any other southern preparatory school.

NORMAN COOLEGE '09.

Norman Cooledge, the son of Mrs. Mary Cooledge, graduated from the Boys' High school in 1908. He took first honor in his graduating class, having done excellent work the whole time he was at the Boys' High school, and winning a Princeton scholarship. He entered Princeton in the fall of 1909, and has stood high in his classes during the whole course.

Peoples Street School Sends in First Letter

Letters from the various schools of the city, written by the pupils themselves, and telling of what is going on among them, are always interesting, not only to their friends, but to everybody who is at all interested in the public schools of Atlanta. Most of the pupils have been so busy getting their books and finding themselves in school life again that they have not had time to consider writing their usual school letter to The Constitution's school page, but to Lucien Harris, of Peoples street school, must go the credit of being able to take care of school duties and being the first to write a school page letter, too.

The letter, which follows, was sent in on time, and tells of the opening of the school term, and is a forerunner of many bright and interesting notes from this school.

Peoples Street School.

Vacation is over, and school has begun. Greetings to the 1913-14 school year.

There are 593 children enrolled in our school and 14 applicants who cannot be seated in grades for which they are prepared for lack of room.

The boys and girls of last year's eighth grade are greatly missed, but we of last year's seventh are glad to take their places. We hope they will carry through their high school course the excellent record they established the previous year.

In Peoples, May we leave with one as final.

LUCIEN HARRIS.

Freshman Class Big One in Boys' High School

On Monday the Boys' High school opened with one of the most prosperous looking crowds of boys that has ever congregated on the first day. One good thing about the high school this year is that the faculty is composed of the same courteous able professors who were there last year. Many of the 1913-14 graduates visited the school, as they simply could not stay away. The athletic teams this year are expected by all to be the 1913-14 champions of this city.

It was announced that the school would take control over the sale of lunches for the benefit of athletics. The Tattler and the library. As soon as the classes were organized the school was dismissed. This is the first year that the freshmen have outnumbered the others. Four first grades were formed in the classical course and two in the commercial. In the second grade, four classes were formed in the classical, scientific and commercial. The third grade was divided into two rooms, while the senior took only one.

Hell in Business.

(Chorus [Pa.] Correspondence in The New York Herald.)

The Damm family, of world fame, bids fair to lose its renown by discovery of the Hell family in the town of Farrell, built by the United States Steel corporation.

Members of the Hell family are not averse to using their name in a business way. The head of the family, Conrad Hell, an ice-cream manufacturer, has signs reading: "Go to Hell for ice cream" scattered throughout the city. Another sign reads:

"Ice cream from Hell is guaranteed pure and cooling."

Still another bears the inscription: "Have you been to Hell? It's the coolest place in Farrell."

When a stranger enters Main street he is startled by a big billboard reading:

"Hell is here; don't miss the place."

A block further down the street this sign is encountered:

"You will find everybody there on a hot day. Hell is always open."

The big sign, which, however, attracts most attention is in front of Hell's place of business. It represents a young couple eating ice cream and the young woman saying to her neighbor:

"Hell for mine; always."

BIRTHDAY PARTY GUESTS

Boyle-Hale.

Montague, Tenn., September 12.—(Special.)—The marriage of Mr. Robert Douglas Hale, of Atlanta, Ala., and Miss Lucile Caroline Boyle, of Houston, Texas, was solemnized in the chapel of the Holy Comforter of the Palmetto college, Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock, Dr. W. F. DuBois officiating.

In the bridal party were Miss Nancy Lee Morris, Tampa, Fla., maid of honor; Mrs. J. Stewart Boyle, Houston, Texas, matron of honor; Miss Frances Boyle, ringbearer; Mr. Lewis Hale, brother of the groom, best man. The bride was given away by her brother, Mr. J. Stewart Boyle.

The bride was lovely in white champagne, with lace draperies and pearl trappings. Her jewels were diamonds. The bridesmaids wore white, and the bridesmaids and groomsmen were in white.

The bride was for eight years a resident of the college and is a graduate of the college. She was baptised and confirmed by Dr. DuBois, in the chapel, and for this reason the marriage took place at Montague. A beautiful reception was given in the college main building.

Mr. and Mrs. Hale left at 11 o'clock for an extended trip, after which they will be at home to their friends at Tyler Hill, Anniston, Ala.

The out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Jones, Smyrna, Tenn.; Mrs. Lucy Boyle, Miss Julia Buchanan, Centerville, Ga.; Miss Julia Buchanan, Centerville, Ga.; Miss Marie Miller, who sang beautifully, and Miss Marie Miller, of Murfreesboro, Tenn., who presided at the organ.

Country Club Activities.

With the house and grounds at the Capital City Country club a daily social center, and with its membership taking full advantage of the club's every opportunity, the fall season has begun most auspiciously at this beautiful playground for the grown-up, eight hundred and seventy of them entitled to its privileges.

The second nine holes of the golf course are in course of preparation, to be ready by spring.

The distance on the new holes will be much longer than the present nine holes, and hazards like those on the Scotch links will go to make it one of the best courses in the south. The first nine holes are very well situated around the lake with natural hazards, but rather short. The new nine holes will be through some very pretty woodland toward Peachtree road and the side of Brookhaven drive, and the start and finish for the eighteen holes will be at the club house.

Another feature of the club will be a great hunt twice a week through the winter, commencing about the end of September.

Native hounds will be used, and the farmers living in the surrounding country will be invited to ride the hounds, and permission will be asked of landowners to ride across their property.

The dogs will be laid so that young boys and girls can ride with safety to themselves, and they will be taken care of by the older members of the club. The dogs will be laid so that operators in the neighborhood can keep the riders and hounds in sight most of the time.

Bath houses to accommodate one hundred people, and an enlargement of the locker room to hold one hundred lockers are to be other improvements, and outdoor sports of every kind suited to the country are planned to be gradually introduced.

Visitors in Asheville.

Asheville, N. C., September 12.—(Special.)—The golf links this season have been the scene of much activity and there has been much talk among the golfers about the proposed to take place here the latter part of October.

Mrs. J. J. Hill recently entertained in honor of her little brother, J. J. Hill, Jr.'s twelfth anniversary at her home on Alexander street.

Miss Byrd's Dance.

A delightful event among the younger set was the dancing party given by Miss Gladys Evelyn Byrd on Friday night at the clubhouse on East Lake. The pretty young hostess wore white crepe de chine veiled with shadow lace and a corsage bouquet of red carnations. Mrs. C. P. Byrd, receiving with her daughter, wore white satin champagne.

Assisting in entertaining were Mr. and Mrs. Rix Stafford, Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Cooper, Mr. and Mrs. Day, Mrs. L. T. Lyon, Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. Byrd, Mrs. Ann Thorne Annis and Mr. Thomas J. Lyon.

The guests were: Misses Rebecca Hill, Mary Wilk, Martin Woolley, Elizabeth Thomas, Louise Richardson, Mary Critchton, Mildred Thomas, Lelia Ponder, Carolina Blount, Elizabeth Hawkins, Anna Williamson, Dorothy Taylor, Minnie Cook, Janet Hutcher, Mary Tiller, Louise Sullivan, Josephine Smith, Willie Smith, Ella Lawrence, Gladys Grant, Annie Dow Warm, Harriet McCullough, Irene Throver, Juliette Murray, Elizabeth Spaulding, Miss Jones, Jacksonville, Fla.; Messrs. ## To Miss Tomlinson.

Miss Blaud Tomlinson, of Birmingham, who is being the recipient of many pretty courtesies during her visit with Miss Dorothy Harmon, will be the guest of honor at a luncheon to be given Tuesday by Miss Josephine Mobley.

On Monday afternoon Miss Laura Cowles will entertain informally at her home.

Last night Miss Tomlinson was one of the visiting belles at the club dance at East Lake.

Anniversary Reception.

Miss J. C. Clifton, Jr. has issued cards for Friday evening September 19, the occasion being the twentieth anniversary of their wedding.

Assisting in entertaining will be Mrs. Orr's sister, Mrs. Robert Anderson, of Gainesville, Mrs. Albert Bras-

The Fashions That Are The Loveliest in Generations

The post-season ideas from Paris—the same styles that are to be worn by the fashionable woman of Paris during the winter season—are here now.

We have assembled on the three floors of this Store de Luxe the most brilliant collection of Gowns, Tailored Suits, Dressy 3-piece Suits, Coats, Fur-trimmed Garments, Fur Sets, Blouses and Millinery, for street or evening wear, that it has ever been our pleasure to present.

The extremely sensible prices at which these lovely things are to be had is a further incentive for the purchase of Ready-to-Wear specialties here. We urge you to see the displays this week, when the choicest styles from Europe are vying with best American productions.

Allen Ready-to-Wear affords advantages and comfort in furnishing the opportunity for complete selections in one place where choice is unlimited, whether it is for the inexpensive or the greatest elegance.

The New Suits

The first illustration shows one of our smart suit models. Made of brocade Matlese with velvet collar and buttons. It is fine, simple and absolutely good form, and you would pick it for a $50 model.

The price is $35

The Junior Norfolk

The second illustration shows our very chic Junior Norfolk for girls from 13 to 18 years, in blue, brown and black serge.

$19.75

Many Handsome Suits

The handsomest suits ever shown in Atlanta are to be seen in this house today. When Paris gave the signal for such glory as is shown this season, designers endeavored to excel each other.

This will be evident when you see the ALLEN assemblage of Suits.

An original novelty suit has the coat of broad-tail or velvet brocade with draped broadcloth skirt. Almost every suit is fur touched. Mole, ermine, skunk and fitch are the popular trimming furs.

Suits $25, $35, $45, $50 and up to $300

Allen Evening Wear

Large new display cases in our remodeled dress department are brilliant with color. This handsome section of our house is a store of itself in appearance and the display of fine dresses.

Evening gowns of great magnificence are dainty with laces and embroidery—laces of real worth and finest hand embroidery. Rich brocades, gold and silver, flower borders and wonderful silk draperies dazzle one with so much art and grace.

Beginning with our simple and dainty dancing frocks of accordion pleated chiffon, at $12.50 and $20, the price range of evening dresses is $35, $45, $50 and up to $300.

New Motor and Street Coats

Worumbo Chinchilla is the new cloth. It is blue or gray, with plaid or plain lining, velvet or plain collar. It is cut  $\frac{3}{4}$  length, and cut away to the knees in front—very smart and very practical. You would expect to pay \$25 for such a coat. The price is \$18.75.

The "Sport Coat"

The coat is just as it is shown in the picture. Made of soft wool fleecy fabric, in blue, rose, green and white, $6.00.

New Diaphanous Blouses

Fine net, shadow lace, chiffon and softest crepes of the very sheer fabrics forming the daintiest blouses a season has ever known. Bullet buttons of pearl and cut glass and small frills of net or lace form the decorations. Much hand embroidery is seen, and many are ribbon-run. $5.95 to $18.50.

Separate Skirts, Barrel Drapery

Narrow at the foot, with a bit of fullness above, is the new barrel skirt; blue, black and black and white checks. $6 to $12.

The New Hats

There are few things that give women as much pleasure as choosing the new hat. If you have a doubt about what you want or should wear, come and join the hosts who regard us as connoisseurs in Fashions.

Daily Millinery hints from Paris showing every twist and turn of Fashion are shown here as soon as they are received, and new models take the place in swift succession of those sold.

One of the most beautiful styles of the season thus far is the one illustrated here. It is a Knox Model, close fitting, with high turn-up brim at one side, with upright fancy feather.

This is but one of the many excellent ideas shown here.

The new fur hat is of Mexican Mouse, with scarf and muff to match.

A very novel and most attractive quill decoration is the paradise whip.

Allen's Beauty Parlors

Our Fourth Floor has been beautifully fitted up for hairdressing, Manicuring, Shampooing and Face Massage.

Our customers will enjoy the convenience of this department and the efficiency of the service. The parlors are in the charge of Miss Teresa Zahn, who is well known, being formerly of the firm of Clayton & Zahn.

Judge L. S. Roan was there, but he was not the man with the austere countenance, relieved only by the kind- eyes, when court spectators see. He was not the man on the bench, but the man among his friends, and in his quiet way he was as congenial as the most effusive and hearty as any who attended.

Roan Praises Host.

To tell of the barbecue and fried fish and drinkables that Plennie (for his other name has long ceased to be used) provided would be cruelty to those who did not attend. Judge Roan in a brief speech, said that Plennie was the best deputy sheriff he had ever seen in his years of experience, and the same might be said of the numerous Plennies and their friends. Of the fried fish, well there's hardly sea to waste words in telling about the delectable eating they re- lished. Anyone who has not tasted the famous Plennie fried fish, has lost a treat. No Burdette over an open fire, has missed something that in a cold, glass restaurant in Atlanta could provide.

Eating was not the entire order of the day, and neither was speaking, for the occasion was, to use a slang ex- pression, a "fish fry."

Figures and clock reflections, some one called on Judge Roan for a speech. Standing on a little bridge in the edge of the wood and with a small creek stippling beneath his feet, the judge told of his pleasure in being there and also expressed his own personal opinion of Plennie as deputy sheriff, as host and as friend. Somebody said that Plennie was a "fish fry" and that is the report that I'm going to run for sheriff against "Dad" M. gum. My friends haven't believed that for they know I would try to fear the man who placed me in position and the man whom we love. I'm not going to run against "Dad."

Solicitor Hugh Dorsey followed with appropriate words, and then the re- ception.

The occasion proved a love-feast which will not soon be forgotten by some sixty or one hundred who were fortunate enough to attend, and good-fellowship abounded. All else was left behind.

Roan Praises Host.

To tell of the barbecue and fried fish and drinkables that Plennie for his other hands has long ceased to be used) provided would be cruelty to those who did not attend. Judge Roan in a brief speech, said that Plennie was the best deputy sheriff he had ever seen in his years of experience, and the same might be said of the barbecue Plennie provided for them. Of the fried fish, well there hardly was to waste words in telling how the delectable eating they furnished. Anyone who has not tasted a fresh-caught fish, fried by Deputy Roan Burdette over an open fire, has missed something that not even the finest restaurant in Atlantic could provide.

Eating was not the entire affair of the occasion, however. There was something to use a slang expression, "long on eats and short on drink" when one who had already had and like each other get together there was much to talk about.

From the stump, and that was the condition of Plennie's barbecue.

The gathering grew strong and gathered here and there, and jokes and stories passed round while the crowd of waiting spectators waited for the friend's many kind words.

Net Opposing Mearns.

After the first speech Plennie responded to the calls for him, and uttered a rock in the middle of the friend's many kind words.

Roan Previews Feast.

To tell of the barbecue and fried fish and drinkables that Plennie (for his other names have long ceased to be used) provided would be cruelty to those who did not attend. Judge Roan was the best deputy sheriff he has known in his years of experience, and the same might be said of the barbecue Plennie prepared for his friends. Of the feast, well, there's hardly use to waste words in telling about the delectable eating they partakened. Anyone who has not tasted a fresh-caught fish, fried by Deputy Plennie over an open fire, has missed something that not even the choicest restaurant in Atlantic can provide.

Eating was not the entire order of the day, neither was speaking for the occasion was, to use a slang expression, "to make a few remarks." Talk—"When a crowd of men who know and like each other get together—there's no harm in their talking. It's done from the stump, and that was the whole idea of the picnic," Judge Congenial groups, ever changing, gathered here and there, and folks were waiting for the fast to be spread. After the third hour had passed, the satisfied and began to turn to food

Several New Ministers Will Be Received at Session Beginning on Tuesday.

The fall meeting of the Atlanta Presbytery will be held in Turin, Ga., September 14 and 15. Several new ministers are to be received into the Presbytery. The following are expected: the Rev. Arnold Hall, of the Gordon Baptist church, and Rev. Robert Ivy, of the Central Baptist church.

The routine business of the Presbytery will be transacted, and a number of important matters will be to be considered. The session will be held at the Atlanta Y. M. C. A. building. A number of prominent ministers and laymen will give promises of proving very interesting and instructive. About seventy representatives are expected at the meeting and the ministers and elders of the Atlanta churches are arranging to take the 14 and 15 train on the Central of Georgia Tuesday afternoon.

The full program for the sessions, as announced Saturday, follows:

To tell of the barbecue and fried fish and drinkables that Plennie (for his other name has long ceased to be used) provided would be cruelty to those who did not attend. Judge Roon, in brief speech, said that Plennie was the best deputy sheriff he had ever seen in his years of experience.

Anybody who would be said of the barbecue Plennie provided for his friends, anyone who would know hardly use to waste words in telling about the delectable eating that was washed. Anyone who would not state a fresh-caught fish, fried by Deputy Sheriff Roon, over an open fire, has missed something that not even the classiest restaurant in Atlantic could equal.

Eating was not the entire order of the day, however. Judge Roon, in the occasion, was to use a slang expression, "long on eats and short on words." He said that he knew and like each other get together there is much to be learned from the crowd from the stump, and that was the condition of Plennie's barbecue.

After the eating was over, the crowd gathered here and there, and jokes and stories passed around, and the crowd waited for the feast to be spread.

After the crowd had been thoroughly satisfied and begun to tinkle to Germania park, Judge Roon addressed the figures and quiet reflections, some one called on Judge Roon for a speech. Standing on a little bridge in the edge of the wood and with a small creek rippling beneath his feet, the judge told of his pleasure in being there and also expressed his own personal opinion of Plennie as deputy sheriff. He noted and a friend clapped loudly for three cheers for Plennie as he appeared, and they came with a roar.

Net Antiques Man.

After the first speech Plennie responded to the calls for him, and, limping to a rock in the middle of the creek, spoke his appreciation of the friends' many kind words.

"and that is the report that I'm going to run for sheriff against 'Dad' McGun. My friends haven't believed that for they know I wouldn't try to beat the man 'who placed me in position and the man whom we love. I'm not going to run against him."

Solicitor Hugh Dorsey followed the appropriate words, and then the crowd called for Deputy J. W. Foulcher, the preacher-member of the sheriff's office.

In truly characteristic style he things on Plennie that kept the onlookers laughing from start to finish. He ended by saying that as was against the law to sell to a minor, that Plennie had given him barbecue, so he could get a glass himself.

LIVES ARE ENDANGERED BY LIVE TROLLEY WIRE

A live trolley wire stretching across the tracks at Broadhead church Sunday night in front of the Piedmont hotel endangered the lives of the crowd and blocked traffic for about twenty minutes Saturday night about 11 o'clock. Linemen were hastily summoned and succeeded in resplicing the wire before anyone was injured.

BUCKHEAD BAPTISTS TO HEAR W. D. USPAW

There will be a meeting of great interest at Buckhead church Sunday night. Will D. Upshaw will speak at 8 o'clock. In connection with his service and after his address the organization of Baptists will be addressed which will mark the close of the recent revival meeting. Preceding the address will be a collection for the strike a week in the paragraphs served by the Buckhead church. Baptism will be done by the pastor, E. H. Peacock.

CONFERES WORRIED BY COTTON CROCHER

Washington, September 13. (Special.)—Greater than any other of the conferences on the tariff, anti-trust thought that the committee had struck a snag in the paragraphs taxing cotton yarn and cloth.

The senate added 3-1 points to cotton houses duty for dyne, mercantile and coloring, and changed the classification of both yarn and cloth. The house conference objected and these paragraphs were passed over. The struggle on stockings will also be ret. classified.

A FIELDS' MINSTRELS HERE THURSDAY EVENING

Atlanta Theater Will Be Dressed Until Arrival of Black Face Fun-Makers.

The Atlanta will be dark this week because the Friday night performance of next week the A. G. Field Minstrel will be here. Following the black face minstrel show will be "R. Money," "Little Boy Blue" and "Red Hood" the week of September when the season will be well up.

"The Minstrels of the Nation" is the idea of the production that takes the time-honored minstrel show in the program of the A. G. Field Greater Minstrels. The scene is a military service of every nation, officers and sailors of the United States, including the soldiers of every nation assembled to celebrate the centenary of the Panama canal, offering a spectacle for a spectacle rarely equalled.

The music and scenic surroundings of this massive production are attractive and entirely new to the audience. The Friday night show has representation, and the songs are of the most popular and catchy forms of the officers of the military legations offer contrasted colors, the flag of all nations, and a beautiful background.

The Atlanta is surprised in being the first, the musical music is Dignity and decorum of the courtroom relaxed and scattered on the wind Saturday when Deputy Sheriff Plennie Minor entertained scores of his friends among the courthouse offices, lawyers and newspaper men at a barbecue and fish fry and, "let's be forgotten," said Plennie at German park.

Judge L. S. Roon was there, but he was not the man with the austere countenance, relieved only by the kindly eyes, whom court spectators see. He was not the man on the bench, but the man among his friends, and in his quiet way he was as congenial as the most effusive and hearty as any who landed.

The occasion proved a love-feast when will not soon be forgotten by some sixty or one hundred who were fortunate enough to attend, and good-fellowship abounded. All else was left behind.

Roon Feasts Host

To tell of the barbecue and fried fish and drinkables that Plennie (for his other name has long ceased to be heard) provided would be crass to those who did not attend. Judge Roon, a chief justice, said Plennie was the best deputy sheriff he had ever seen in his years of experience, and that he was a "good" man and a "barbarous Plennie" provided for his friends. Of the friends of Plennie was to waste words in telling about the delectable eating they furnished. Anyone who has not tried a fresh-caught fish, fried by Deputy Lon Burdette over an open fire at the "barbecue," will miss one of the classiest restaurants in Atlanta could provide.

Eating was not the entire order of the day, and neither was speaking; for Plennie had a great deal to say in depression, "long on snails and short on talk." When asked to give the toast, he was making get together there was much talking, but all of it is not the same and the same is not the condition of Plennie's barbecue.

Congregal groups of friends and acquaintances were gathered, and jokes and stories passed round while the crowd waited for the next course. After the crowd had been thoroughly satisfied and begun to turn to good Solicitor Hugh Dorsey followed with appropriate words, and then the crowd called for Deputy J. W. Fowles, the preacher—member of the sheriff's office.

Columbia Theater Will Present
the White Way Burlesque Company.

The Columbia theater, the home of burlesque, where joy reigns and dull care is banished, will open its doors to the public Monday evening at 7:30 o'clock, with the White Way Burlesque company, direct from Cincinnati, where it has just ended a successful run of several weeks in "Almost a Husband," the most amusing and interesting little playlet ever seen in Atlanta.

The company has twenty people, mostly girls, and these same girls are appearing in one evening to be headed by Miss Beatrice Darling, said to be the prettiest woman in burlesque.

The company has twenty people, most girls and a few stars, as an attraction. The show is directed as a party and a crowd would like to be headed by Miss Beatrice Darling, said to be the prettiest woman in burlesque.

Special attention has been given to the selections of comedians, and the boys of the show are of the type that will draw away that groan that has been eating your life out and making your friends miserable.

The show is located at the foot of Wall street, opposite the old Union depot, and is one of the prettiest shows in the city. The show is a big one, and the workmen and artists have been busy for several weeks, and the result has been a very fine show.

the selections of comedians, and the big-name comedians, who will drive away that grouchy that has been eating your life out and making your friends miserable. The first show will be a comedy show, booked at the foot of Wall street, opposite the old Union depot, and is one of the prettiest theaters in the city. The comedians and workmen and artists have been busy for several weeks, and the result has been a very good one. The show is inside the dome. It seats 1,000, and there are no reserved seats, the lower floor being 15 cents, while the balcony seats are 25 cents—twelve in number—are 50 cents.

Do you smoke? If you do, help yourself to a cigarette. If you do not, who does not smoke, there will be no inconvenience as the ventilation takes care of that. There will be no water, no food, no drink, no anything, but a little for the smokers.

Inside the dosas. It seats 1,908, and there are no reserved seats, the lower floor being 15 cents, while the balcony is 10 cents. The boxes—twelve in number—are 50 cents.

Do you smoke? If you do, help yourself to a cigarette. If you don't, you who do not smoke, there will be no inconvenience, as the ventilation takes care of that. There will be no waiter to act as a waiter, for as soon as the curtain falls on one act vaudeville will take its place, and there will not be a moment's delay.

A full orchestra of musicians picked from the Atlanta Musicians' union, will play the music for the entire evening, keeping with the other high-class attractions offered by the Columbia.

REPORT TO BE MADE BY LOBBY PROPERLY

Washington, September 13.—The first session of congressional investigation of the work of the lobby, which President Wilson declared was "numerous and unimportant," will become apparent when the House investigating committee reports its work report in about two weeks. It is expected to be finished within the next few days.

Washington, September 15.—The first results of congressional investigation of the lobby, which President Wilson declared was "numerous and important," appeared today in the pages of the house investigating committee's first work report in about two weeks. It says work is expected to be finished with the end of the month.

Prominent in the house committee report will be the testimony taken on September 10 by Representative McDermott of Illinois. It is believed the committee will present only the facts it has developed and not the house's conclusions.

President Wilson's friends in congress declare the senate committee's report will be "a masterpiece" and will in general support the president's charges.

Prominent in the house committee report will be the testimony taken on March 15 of McCall's charges against Representative McDermore of Illinois. It is believed the committee will present only the facts it has developed and not the house lodge their value.

Atlanta's Wonderful Growth Shown in Rising Property Values

Increase on Whitehall and Marietta Streets Has Been Tremendous

Reading from left to right—Top row: Byck's shoe store, sold in 1871 by William Markham to E. C. Jones for $18,000. Bijou theater. Atlanta theater. American National Bank building, sold in 1867 "for a song." Middle row: Davison-Paxon-Stokes department store, "the kind of stores which will line Whitehall within a few years." Keely's corner, Whitehall and Hunter. Five Points, where 150,000 people pass each day. Jacobs' corner, Whitehall and Alabama, sold in 1871 for $15,000, valued today at $100,000 front foot. Bottom row: Grand Opera house. Forsyth Theater building, which has greatly increased in value past few years. First Presbyterian church on Marietta street; property valued at $300 when donated to church in 1850; being held for $2,000 per front foot now. Maier & Berkle, Whitehall, this property brought only $10,000 in 1871.

WHITEHALL PROPERTY SHOWS CITY'S GROWTH

Sales Made by William Markham in Seventies Prove Great Increase in Values.

The wonderful growth of Atlanta, and the fact that in real estate can be no better shown than by comparing property values of the Whitehall retail district with that of a quarter century ago.

Back in the seventies, when Atlanta was little more than a bump on the brow of nature, so to speak, William Markham owned a great deal of property along Whitehall, near Alabama street. One day Mr. Markham decided that Atlanta had grown all that it would for years to come, and thought that the safest thing to do would be to dispose of some of his Whitehall property, and get the cash in hand, to hold against hard times.

One of the first pieces of property that he sold was that now known as Jacobs' corner, at Whitehall and Alabama, which has a 20 foot frontage. He disposed of this piece to John Jones in 1871 for $15,000. Four years later, on March 17, 1875, the property came into the hands of E. C. and D. C. Jones, and was appraised at $24,000. Previous to these sales, in the year 1867, Mr. Markham sold to Judge Hill, the land on which the American National bank now stands. Though the price is not known, it no doubt sold for a song, as that was just about the time that Mr. Markham decided that Atlanta had grown enough.

Although at this time the Jones family showed great foresight in the purchase, one mistake was made by John

Markham: "I guess Atlanta has grown as much as it ever will, and I think that I got a mighty good price for that piece of property." And yet today conservative real estate men say this very same 35 feet on Whitehall would bring on the open market at least $1,000, if not $1,500 per front foot.

When one of the Byck brothers decided to lease this building, it is said that he drove eighteen miles out from Atlanta, where E. C. Jones was living at the time, in order to beat a competitor to the lease. That the firm's judgment in leasing this building was correct has been amply demonstrated, as today that is the very heart of the retail district.

In the same year that the other sale was made, Markham was still convinced that Atlanta had reached her full growth and that the realty value would not increase. So he sold to D. Jones the property where Maier & Berkle are located today, for $10,000. The property, 24 1/2 feet to an alley, could be bought today for less than $5,000 per front foot, it is thought.

Mr. Markham seems to have set a permanent price of $15,000 for each piece of his Whitehall property, for while he was unloading his property on the market, Primus W. Jones bought from him the present location of Stewart's on Whitehall, for that sum. This property also has a frontage of 21 feet. Primus Jones then resold the property on August 14, 1894, to A. B. Steele for $38,000. This is the last sale recorded of that property.

Sold American National Site.

Previous to these sales, in the year 1867, Mr. Markham sold to Judge Hill, the land on which the American National bank now stands. Though the price is not known, it no doubt sold for a song, as that was just about the time that Mr. Markham decided that Atlanta had grown enough.

Although at this time the Jones family showed great foresight in the purchase, one mistake was made by John

Old First Presbyterian Church Will Soon Be Matter of History

The First Presbyterian church on Marietta street will soon be only a matter of history. This famous old church, in which hundreds of prominent Atlantans have been baptised, married and buried from, has been on the market for some time, and it is thought will be disposed of soon.

The new edifice will be erected at Sixteenth and Peachtree streets as soon as the old structure is sold. The church officials are holding the property at present for $18,000. Two offers have been already turned down—one for $135,000 and the other for $150,000.

The lot is 90x200 feet, running back to the railroad tracks. The property was given the church by Judge Bowen some time about 1850. At that time it was valued at $200. Today it is being held for $18,000 per day. It is being held for $18,000 per day.

The first edifice, a small brick structure costing $4,000, was dedicated in July, 1822. The contract for the present structure was given to the firm of Cook & Stuart in the year 1877. The cost of the building alone was $32,499 and the extra and furnishings brought the total cost up to $45,524. Captain W. C. English was chairman of the building committee.

for would be to hitch horses in, and I've got room for that already." And yet in a recent sale John Morris bought this property from C. W. Moore for $60,000.

A pretty good place it would be to truck horses in, or park the modern business luggies.

which had the erection of this structure in charge.

As the years passed by the business section of the city grew more steadily around until today it is almost completely surrounded by business buildings.

At the same time the value of the property actually rose and for the past several years there was talk of disposing of the property and within the last year the move was definitely decided upon. The old saying, "I built better than he knew," might be aptly applied to Judge Bowen. When the property was given to the church, no one at the time ever dreamed that it would bring enormous price which is being asked today.

The passing of the First Presbyterian church is but another evidence of the ever-growing spirit of Atlanta. Situated as it is, it is almost totally inaccessible to the members, except by street car and vehicle. Yet when first constructed it was one of the most centrally located from the residence standpoint in Atlanta.

While there are many who will regret the demolition of the old building, yet it is thought to be for the best, and in a few years will be only a memory.

MILLIONS ARE INVESTED IN ATLANTA THEATERS

Some of City's Most Valuable Property Now Devoted to Amusement Purposes.

An off-hand estimate of the money tied up in legitimate amusement houses of Atlanta today places the amount at $1,150,000. And this estimate includes only the Atlanta, the Grand, the Lyric and the Bijou; the Auditorium-Amory is not included, as this is owned by the city; neither are the smaller amusement houses, such as the numerous moving picture and vaudeville houses. The Orpheum is not closed with either, as it is doubtful if the curtain ever rises there again.

This amount, of course, includes the land, and the structures on it. First is the Lyric, a combination theater and office building. It is doubtful if the present owners would take $800,000 for the entire property, and might even hold out for a cool million, as property on Forsyth street is growing every day. The erection of the Hotel Ansley, next door, within the past year, greatly increased property value in that district, and with the probability of the vacant lot opposite, on the corner of Forsyth and Luckie, being used some time in the near future for another office building, this property will no doubt continue to rise rapidly in value, and no doubt will be one of the most valuable buildings in Atlanta.

Grand Theater Value.

The next in value, taking an off-hand estimate, is the Grand Opera

Davison-Paxon-Stokes Building Will Be Department Store Model

That the Davison-Paxon-Stokes structure will be the model after which the department stores of the future on Whitehall and other streets will be patterned, is the opinion of Julian J. Jones, of the well known realty firm of Jones & Barger, with offices at 327 Empire building.

The old buildings were constructed before fire-proofing was really known," Mr. Jones said. "As a consequence today the new Davison-Paxon-Stokes building is a model which other builders will no doubt copy after."

One of the many improvements noticed in that structure is the amount of sunlit space. The old stores were built as a rule with narrow windows, giving very little light. This later structure is lighted from practically every angle, and is a credit to the men who designed it."

theaters mentioned, was not built for first-class shows. It was designed to be essentially what is known as a "family" theater, and consequently was not costly. A structure was erected, at least $40,000, and the lot, which is one of the best on Cheshire way, taking into consideration its nearness to Peachtree, would bring about $100,000, making a total of $140,000.

The Atlanta theater, on Exchange place, will no doubt rise in value with the completion of the magnificent structure, which is practically nothing but a theater building, the stores contained not being large, would be classed as a $100,000 structure. Conservatively real estate men say that today the ground would bring $120,000, making a total of $220,000. And this will no doubt rise in value to a considerable extent in the next few years.

With the exception of the Bijou, these houses are all practically new, and will stand for years yet to come. In the meantime the property will increase in proportion to the city's growth, and before the next half-century will no doubt be double its value.

Mrs. J. M. Latta, Recording Secretary, Atlanta.
Mrs. J. M. Latta, Executive Committee, Atlanta.

Georgia Congress to Widen Its Field of Operations

Mrs. O. H. O'Connell, the state organizer for Georgia branch of the National Congress of Mothers, will begin her work of organizing Parent-Teacher Associations throughout the state September 16. Last spring the larger cities were visited and personal contact with the different organizations was made. The object of the new campaign is to visit every town in the state and secure the co-operation of all teachers, as well as the parents, in the work of the organization.

Public Rapidly Realizing Value Of Parent-Teacher Associations

Now that school has begun and the children are away from home, the most practical way in which the mother's heart can follow them is through the interest and work of the Parent-Teacher Association. These clubs have been organized in every town in the state, Athens and Columbus having organized first six years ago. The public is coming rapidly to realize the power for good of these associations of parent and teacher.

Prominent educators in all lines of educational work are unanimous in their endorsement of these organizations, and strong in the faith in their potential power.

In our own state our recognized leaders in educational matters, State Superintendent M. L. Britton, Superintendent William Blanton, of Atlanta; Lawson B. Evans, of Augusta; R. B. Daniel, of Columbus; C. H. Bruce, of Macon; N. H. Ballard, of Brunswick; O. C. Bond, of Athens; J. A. Duncan, of Thomasville; and others, have given their hearty cooperation and support in this movement.

The Atlanta work of these associations is young, the first clubs having been formed two years ago, but they have met enthusiastic response from both parent and teacher. The work has been practical and they have taken hold of problems in their various districts that demanded attention, and in many instances solved these questions with noteworthy success.

One school association assumed the responsibility of providing school books for the children who were not able to buy them; another club organized its unsightly grounds into an attractive flower garden by so interesting the children of that school that they carried buckets of dirt, enough to level the yard. The school, stimulated by its principal, won the fifty-dollar prize offered by one of the members of board of education, Mr. Walter Rich, for the most attractive school garden.

First Moving Picture.
The same school has installed a moving picture machine and as far as we know this is the first school in the state to take this step.

Several school clubs have worked for their own school libraries and through the co-operation of the Carnegie library assures access to each club of its efforts. The library furnish to each of the schools in a collection of books for both parents and children.

Encouragement in Pure Milk Campaign Met on All Sides

The Atlanta Congress of Mothers, under its present able officers, has through untiring effort, succeeded in launching and carrying through the milk campaign which began early in the summer and lasted through September. An appeal was made for funds to supply milk to babies where there was they could not have had it. The names were supplied by Mrs. Walter Rich, and others in positions to know these direct needs.

The interest in baby-saving fund created was manifested in contributions needed for this purpose, numerous returns from men's "chickadees" and in the "chickadees" printed on and in the "chickadees" in a gratifying manner, and made possible the ultimate success of the undertaking. The first list sent in was tening. The names were soon added to this list. The organization was formed for all the babies, possibly saving the lives of many of the 50 cases cared for during this hot summer. The milk supplied for these babies was recommended by the city bacteriologist, Dr. Claude Smith.

The above presents very vividly the necessity for pure milk for all children, and the work begun by the milk committee of the chamber of commerce, taken up by every city and town of the state. The state department of agriculture is doing all in its power to solve the milk question, and every club or individual has the privilege of literature from this office.

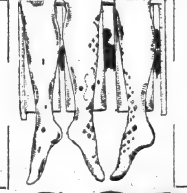

"Sanitary Ice Cream," an article in Literary Digest of September 8, is well worth reading. It says in part: "It has generally been regarded as a fact that the low temperature maintained during the storage of ice cream suffices to destroy the bacteria. The investigation by Stiles in Washington and Pennington in Philadelphia has shown the bacterial content is not generally decreased by storage.

"General investigations of the bac-

NEW VARIATIONS OF TUNIC AND RUFFLES; AND A GRACFUL WRAP.

BROCADE silk in gold and robin's egg blue was used to create the wrap illustrated on the left. The material is shirred in the back and the fullness at the bottom is caught toward the front giving a drawn-in effect below the knees. A double ruffling of chiffon, one blue and one yellow, finishes around the neck.

The dainty girlish little frock in the middle is simply a series of plaited chiffon frills over a foundation of white liberty satin. A dash of brilliant color is given by the girdle of currant colored silk.

A charming evening frock is this of blue and white striped silk marquisette. The sleeves are cleverly draped and caught with small tulle bows. Over the slightly gathered skirt is a tulle tunic short in the front and back but lengthening on the sides into deep points finished with silk tassels.

BUTTER FROM SIBERIA FOR AMERICAN MARKET

New York, September 13.—Butter from Siberia and Australia is here in bond waiting to make its debut into the American market along with Argentine beef.

A full 1,000 firkins of the Siberian product—firkins weighing about 144 pounds each—are stored in warehouses waiting the passage of the new tariff bill, which would reduce the present 4 cent tariff on butter to 3 1/2 cents.

Delivered into the refrigerators the Siberian butter has cost 25 1/4 cents a pound and adding the tax under the proposed tariff it would come to the dealer at 31 1/4 cents, said to be about 3 cents under the prevailing prices for butter of similar grade from domestic dairies.

Some of the experts declare that the Siberian product is as good as the best grades of domestic butter. A smaller quantity of Australian butter, also a little from Canada is also here in bond awaiting the opening of the gate into the American market.

The first commercial shipments of Argentine beef that reached New York was brought here today by the steamer "Van Dyke," from Buenos Ayres. It contained 1000 quarters. On account of the high price of domestic beef the importers expect to make a good profit on their venture.

$11,000,000 DEPOSITED TO MOVE THE CROPS

Washington, September 13.—The treasury department has deposited up to date $11,000,000 of the $16,000,000 of government funds to be used in moving the crops. This amount has been placed in national banks of Washington, Baltimore and the south. The south, which is to receive a total of $12,000,000, wants the money at once, and officials declare it is being distributed as fast as the banks comply with the regulations and present the required security. Western banks have indicated that they will not want their share of the deposits until the latter part of September and during October.

Feeding Silage to Horses.

(From The Progressive Farmer.)
Numerous inquiries are received regarding the advisability of feeding silage to horses and mules. The number of silos being constructed this summer all over the south is very much larger than ever before and it is important that they be used to the best advantage.

All life horses and young and breeding stock may well be fed at least one-half bushel of silage in the form of silage, in fact, it is quite probable that such animals may be given three-fourths the silage in the form of silage to good advantage, but it is generally believed that at least some roughage should be given to any animal fed silage. That this is true has been pretty well established. It is true that silage containing only silage may do well, but experience seems to indicate that it is best to feed some dry roughage along with the silage, even to idle horses and mules.

For horses doing farm work that is not too severe one-half of roughage may be silage with good results. For horses doing real hard work, especially in hot weather, we think not more than one-half the roughage should be silage and for such animals probably less—not over one-fourth the roughage—would be better.

For horses used on the road for driving or saddle purposes we doubt if it is advisable to feed any silage and there is also some doubt if it is advisable to feed a hard-working farm horse any silage in hot weather. We feel quite certain that such animals do better on dry feed than when given any green feed or when turned on pasture, and silage being of a succulent nature will act somewhat similar to green feed on pasture. But for idle horses and mules, those doing moderate or slow work, brood mares and colts and other breeding stock, there is abundant evidence obtained from experience or experiment to show that silage is a most excellent and economical feed.

Always have a green winter cover on the land—better of cotton chaff or than anything else, but even rice is better than bare land in winter. But with crimson clover and all the manure made spread on it in winter, you can make cheap corn, and you cannot make it cheap with fertilizer. Then have the clover, too, for the cotton, and turn it under and plant on the level and use plenty of fertilizer mainly acid phosphate and potash if your land needs it. Liberal broadcast fertilizing pays better on cotton than anywhere else, and if the fertilizer is used heavily broadcast you will find no silage for cotton—W. P. Massey, in The Progressive Farmer.

OFFICIALS ARE MOVING OUT OF WASHINGTON

Washington, September 13.—An exodus of high government officials marks the close of the present week in Washington.

With President Wilson enjoying a brief respite from official cares in Cornish, N. Y., Secretary Daniels left today for Atlantic City to join Mr. Daniels and their two sons. Secretary Wilson leaves tomorrow for the west and south on a speaking tour. On Monday Vice President and Mrs. Marshall go to visit friends in Philadelphia, stopping at Atlantic City before returning. Secretary McAdoo is spending the week-end in New York. Secretary Houston also is absent on business. Secretary Redfield returned today and will resume control of the department of commerce Monday.

MARK TWAIN'S CAVE REFUGE FOR ROBBERS

Hannibal, Mo., September 13.—"Mark Twain's" cave south of Hannibal, where Tom Sawyer and his companions had their rendezvous, was the scene of the finding today of $4,000 worth of plunder, which five Hannibal boys confessed they had stolen. The boys told the police that, after robbing trains and residences across the river from here, they hid their loot in the woods and at night conveyed it across the river in a skiff. Seven thousand dollars and five hundred dollars in cash and jewelry were found in the cave made famous by Mark Twain.

"Suit Yourself" Inside Story of How Atlanta Won Pennant

BILL'S THREE RAG WINNERS; TEAMS OF 1907, 1909, 1913

The Constitution reproduces herewith photos of Bill Smith's three pennant winners, the only rag winners that Atlanta has ever boasted in her career.

Team	W.	L.	P. C.
1907	90	60	.600
1909	90	60	.600
1913	90	60	.600

and Price for second. Joe outlegged the throw to first and two men were on and no one out. Two hits sent the two runs that were sufficient to win, though two more were added in the following inning.

"Suit yourself." No battle cry in the legends attacking the castle of some outlaw knight in olden days could have been more effective than these two simple words. They meant more and they accomplished more than the writer, in his humble way, can fully describe.

Many a hard-fought game was won during the entire season by the instructions issued from the bench, to—

"Suit yourself."

The success of the Atlanta baseball team in winning the pennant of 1913 can be attributed mainly to these two words. Plays that proved to be the turning point in many a fierce battle hinged on these words and the successful culmination of the batters' interpretation of their meaning.

But there were other contributing features that, coupled with these two words, made the race of the team wonderful.

Nerve and ability.

The pennant winners of 1913 possessed both of these traits in abundance. Of the former, they had more than any team that ever stepped on a Southern league diamond.

One game lost would have lost the pennant.

With a realization of such a possibility always uppermost in their minds, the Crackers never quit. It seemed to spur them on to greater deeds and in the final week of the season, playing seven games, under such a strain, they did not drop a single one.

Three of the seven were pulled out in the last season, the final game with New Orleans Monday afternoon and two of the Mobile games.

The Fighting Chance.

The Crackers seldom had to be chased over such a chance, especially with four games scheduled with the team that they had to beat for the pennant and the knowledge that every one of these games had to be taken.

But the Crackers were equal to the emergency and they met it manfully. All power to them.

At the big league meeting last winter Bill Smith was scolding around for an infielder.

"St. Louis has just the man you want," said Charlie Grimm. "He'll be a winner for you. If you can walk out of that door to close for him, don't do it—run."

Bill took Grimm's advice. How it panned out is too well known for me to comment on at any length. And as a field captain after Captain Alpermann was laid low with appendicitis, "Wallop" Smith proved the wise choice.

A lion's share of the Crackers' victories belong to the big, hard-working infielder.

I spoke of nerve. "Wallop" was the very essence of everything nerve. He played the last thirty games of the season in such physical condition that any player with less nerve would have quit cold.

What did not all Wallop could be written in one line. What did would fill a page. But he never quit.

Two contributing causes to the Crackers' success were Harry Welch and Tommy Long. One led the league in batting and registered more hits for the season than were ever registered in a single season previously. The other established a run-scoring record that will probably stand for years to come.

"Suit yourself."

There it is again.

The ability of these two players to carry out the instructions given by these two magic words were as formidable in bringing home the bacon as any other factor.

Welch and Long followed Long in the batting order. When the magic words were issued the opposition had two men to battle instead of one. Long, attributing his great run-getting record to Welch and the latter magnanimously hands the palm for his hitting to Long's speed in gaining him infield base paths.

Hirsh's Blunder.

"Suit yourself!"

These were the words handed to President Hirsch, of the Nashville club, when he informed the Atlanta club in a blustering manner that he was going to take the case of Wallop to the national commission for decision last spring.

A review of this famous case, which made Hirsh the laughing stock of the Southern league when the Crackers put over the famous deal for the league's star batter, is not necessary. Every fan remembers it.

Hirsh never took cognizance of the magic words. But they worked so consistently on this occasion that the local club used them throughout the season, with wonderful results.

A deal with Pittsburgh for Rivington Blalock, after several shortstops had failed, brought the Crackers the best shortstop in every department of play that has ever performed in this league.

The acquisition of Pitcher Connelman from Pittsburgh on the recommendation of Blalock, the purchase of Elliott Dent from Washington for $12,000, the securing of Carl Thompson, the former University of Georgia star, from Birmingham, where he had been a failure, and the purchase of Catcher Harry Chapman from Cincinnati were all contributing features to the team's chances for the pennant.

The Brief Resume.

Briefly the "inside story" of how the Crackers won the pennant of 1913 can be listed as follows:

"Suit yourself."

Nerve.

Natural ability.

The fighting chance.

Purchase of the best shortstop the Southern league has ever seen, the best young outfielder in minor league ball and three good reliable relievers to work with the star left hander.

Possession of two record breakers.

And last, but not least—

The support of the home fans.

"Suit yourself!"

"Suit yourself!"

"Suit yourself!"

"Suit yourself!"

"Suit yourself!"

"Suit yourself!"

"Suit yourself!"

"Suit yourself!"

DEER ARE FOUND DEAD IN THOMAS CO. SWAMPS

Thomasville, Ga., September 12.—(Special.)—It develops that reports of the recent violations of the game law in this and Grady county are not without foundation as several depredations have been reported of late by parties having preserves.

Deer have been found dead in some of the swamps and in some instances horns and pieces of butchered meat have been discovered. Tracks have been found leading into preserves and evidences shown that the hunters had put in their work.

Both deer and turkeys are very plentiful here this year, and it is expected that the hunting will be very fine, and parties who have so little respect for the law as to try to destroy them out of season will undoubtedly be reported if found.

"Suit yourself!"

"Suit yourself!"

"Suit yourself!"

"Suit yourself!"

"Suit yourself!"

By DICK JEMISON.

"Suit yourself."

When I grabbed an ear full of chatter from the manager's editor about writing an "inside story" on how the Crackers won the pennant, I handed him the above.

"Suit yourself."

If I heard those two words one time, I heard them one hundred times during the last two weeks of the season.

"Suit yourself."

Briefly, the "inside story" of how the Crackers won the pennant can be directly traced to those two words. They express the last word in confidence, the last word in nerve, the last word in everything that went towards winning the pennant.

I witnessed the last twenty-three games of the season from the seclusion of the players' bench. I grabbed a lucky seat with the first game of the Birmingham series and I stuck to that seat until Carl Thompson handed Howell's roller to Joe Agler in the final inning of the final game of the season on Saturday, September 6.

The Lucky Seat.

I had this lucky seat.

Ball players are as superstitious as any class of people on earth and sporting writers are very little, if any, behind them. I refused to leave the seat and had I done so, I would probably have been promptly knocked into it again by a healthy swing from the bat of some Atlanta player.

We believed we had the fix sign working and our belief has been proven by subsequent happenings. The team won 19, lost 2 and tied 2 of those 23 games.

You can call it superstition if you want to.

But I'm straying from the point at issue.

"Suit yourself."

There it is again.

Three on bases, one out, the count one and one on Blalock. He looked towards the bench for instructions. Bill Smith nodded his head and yelled:

"Suit yourself!"

Blalock had been given carte blanche to hit with the pitcher, wait him out, hunt or do anything else that he cared to do. He delivered a pinch single and two runs flittered across the pan.

"Suit yourself."

These two words spelled everything in the final rush of the Crackers towards the pennant. They proved to the world at large that the Crackers were the brainiest bunch of ball players individually and collectively that have ever been banded together in this league.

When Bill Smith chirped the magic words, the issue was completely out of his hands. He had placed the fate of the team in the hands of the batter.

As I stated above, I heard those two words one hundred times in those 23 games and I do not recall a single instance where the batter failed to pull off the proper play at the psychological moment.

"Suit yourself!"

Beat Pug Caved.

Those two words brought about the downfall of Pug Caved in the opening game of the Mobile series. Caved played a prominent part on the next beat and had I done so, I would probably have been promptly knocked into it again by a healthy swing from the bat of some Atlanta player.

For five innings but one measly little tap, an infield scratch by Joe Agler, had been registered.

Gil Price was the first man up at the start of the sixth inning. Caved beat two and two. He looked around the bench and out rang the magic words:

"Suit yourself!"

Catching the Gulf infield flatfooted, Gil dragged a hunt past Caved, too fast for him to handle, to far out for First Baseman Panlet to tackle and rolling too slow for Second Baseman Price to field in time, the ball even-ually going through him on a mean hop.

"Suit yourself."

The magic words had turned the trick. The first man to start an inning had reached first safely. They played a prominent part on the next batter, Joe Agler.

Joe looked over a couple, fouled off a couple, looked over another one for a count of three and two and then fouled several over the stands.

On the next pitch batted the magic words came from Joe Dunn, coaching at first base.

"Suit yourself!"

Agler's Great Play.

Joe did.

He laid down the prettiest bunt a batter ever pulled and with the count standing three to two. The last miscalculation would have resulted in the downfall of the team. The winning of the pennant really hinged on Joe's great play.

He made good—he's a hero.

But the magic words stood guard over him and with the impact of the ball on the bat, he was off to first and Price for second. Joe outlegged the throw to first and two men were on and no one out. Two hits sent the two runs that were sufficient to win, though two more were added in the following inning.

"Suit yourself." No battle cry in the legends attacking the castle of some outlaw knight in olden days could have been more effective than these two simple words. They meant more and they accomplished more than the writer, in his humble way, can fully describe.

Many a hard-fought game was won during the entire season by the instructions issued from the bench, to—

"Suit yourself."

Smart Hats

Distinction and chic characterize every hat we create. We study especially to give the most artistic expression to the individuality of the wearer.

Our service is what may be called "comfortable"—we give interested, personal attention to each customer. Our sole aim is to satisfy our patrons.

You are cordially urged to inspect the exceedingly smart models we are now showing. Importations from Paris vie in beauty with the charming things from Fifth Avenue.

Of special interest are the match sets (Hat, Collar and Muff) which we are designing and making in all the smart, new furs, for street and evening. Marvelously quaint and artistic imported hats for children and young girls. Originals and copies.

Be very sure to inspect our Hats—they are quite the most stunning and chic to be found

Our National Weakness

Not so long since an eminent surgeon started the nation by prescribing "teeth" to cure dyspepsia and indigestion. Today it is the only recognized remedy.

As long as there is a tooth missing—a loose tooth—a hollow tooth in your mouth, you are not masticating your food properly. You favor the sensitive weak part—you are bringing on chronic dyspepsia.

Indigestion, dyspepsia and malnutrition—thinness, weakness and continual distress all arise from bad teeth, from making the stomach "chew" the food.

There's no reason why you should let this danger confront you.

Let me make your teeth sound and whole. That will make your health the better. No matter how many are missing, or how many are hollow, aching or loose, I can put them in proper condition by painless methods.

THE IDEA FOR THIS NOVEL & PRACTICAL DESIGN WAS ORIGINATED BY "WINIFRED WORTH"

EMBROIDERY DESIGN FOR SHIRT-WAIST

TO TRANSFER THIS DESIGN.
Put some soap in a pint of hot water, stir and remove soap. Saturate design with mixture, then remove excess moisture by partially drying. Design. Place material on a hard flat surface and lay the Design face down upon the material. Cover with two folds of newspaper, and with a table-spoon rub, pressing hard, until the Design is entirely transferred.
PATENT PENDING.

CALL your attention to one feature of this design which, I believe, you will admire. It is that decorative outline at the extreme collar edge which is often left plain and many do not know how to finish the waist collar without additional expense. This originality is not always possible to those who are better imitators than creators of fashion.
The odd but pretty lead design known as the "star" pattern, should be done in at satin stitch. Fading is too heavy to balance the eyelid portions and look neat. If a color is desired, this pattern would look very handsome in shadow embroidery, but you should use a very fine rose finer than the ordinary embroidery rose, and make the stitches quite close together while forming the ladder on the back of the design.
This pattern could be made up handsomely in this manner. Transfer the pattern to sheer white silk, or else the foreign white silk which is as heavy as good linen. Pad the floral parts and work them with white silk. Where eyelids are suggested, use crystal beads—flat variety with two holes in them, sometimes called nail-heads. Then use the medallion portion with crystal beads to decorate each sleeve. Finish with beads of crystal sewed alternately with ornamental pearls as a collar decoration. This would make a pretty and very inexpensive party waist for a young miss.
Sincerely yours
Winifred Worth

SOCIAL PROBLEMS

BY LUCILLE DAUDKOT

"A YOUNG man who has shown me quite a little attention is ill with typhoid fever. I understand that callers can now see him, but as I do not know his mother I hardly know what to do about calling. I think he would be glad to see me."
If the young man's mother has his convalescence at heart she will be only too glad to have his long days broken by calls from those he likes. If she has a telephone the young girl should call her up, introduce herself, express her sympathy for the mother's anxiety and state that she wishes to know if there is anything she can do for or send to her friend. If callers are received the mother will certainly ask her to come and name the hour at which the attendant physician prefers the patient to receive callers.

Or if there is no telephone in the house, the girl may write a note to the mother graciously expressing her sympathy and inquiring if she may not call and relieve the tedium by reading aloud to the patient. The mother will appreciate this deference to her position in the household and the girl will rise a notch or two in her estimation. It is also proper to write a note to the patient, expressing sympathy and best wishes for prompt recovery.

The girl calling to see an invalid under such circumstances may take flowers, a potted plant, a cheerful book, or a motto of optimistic sentiment. Food should not be taken to an invalid without first consulting the nurse or mother.
If a man is ill at home, his mother is sufficient chaperon during the call. In the hospital, the nurse on duty in the chaplain, though many mothers of conservative ideas still accompany their daughters on such calls.
"My husband attended a smart dinner while in — recently. He tells me that the hostess was served first. Why was this done? Is it the newest thing in dinner etiquette?" In the olden days, a feudal baron or a titled hostess was served first to assure guests that no poison was concealed in the food. We have passed beyond such barbaric customs. The correct thing is to proffer a dish to the women guest, on the host's right, hand and then proceed around the table, serving men and women in succession. If there are two servants one starts with the woman on the host's right and the other with the woman on the host's left.

"I am invited to an evening wedding at a church. No other member of my family is invited, as the girl is one of my business friends. Do I go alone?"
If the invitation is to the church only and it is a large, general wedding, you are entirely justified in asking some nice man friend to act as your escort. But if the invitation is to both church and reception afterward at the home of the bride, where you are expected to appear as one of a few privileged guests, you will have to attend the reception alone. It would have been better taste for your friend to have sent an invitation including your brother or at least to have told you that you might bring an escort. If there are a number of girls in your store or office, why not go to the church together?

To remove an ink stain from a colored waist put the stained portion in sweet milk and let it stand until the milk sours. Hang the waist up and let the milk dry, brush it off and wash in the usual manner. This will remove ink when buttermilk has failed.

ODDS AND ENDS

Improved with strawberries and their natural juice. Cereals with a few chopped English walnuts are relished by many persons. The taste of all cereals is improved by rich cream and sugar, also rich fruit sirups.
To wipe hardwood floors around carpets use a soft cloth over a broom and be lavish of the turpentine in the water.
For porcelain bath tubs and galvanized wash tubs there is nothing better than kerosene. Use a small brush when dirty. It will remove all gummy substances that so often gather around the edge of a tub.
Before oiling sewing machines clean all parts thoroughly with kerosene. Wipe dry, then oil with good machine oil, and your machine will run like new.
If poor eyesight obliges you to use colored thread when basting white goods, use blue cotton, as any bits of this that catch in the machine sewing will wash white and not stain the goods, as black or other colors will.
Always keep a brush or comb handy, and whenever you sit down, wipe your hands on it until straight up, and it will soon learn to curl beautifully. This will make the straightened hair curly.
LEAK walls—To every pall two-thirds full of warm water add one handful of common glue. Wash a small surface and rinse with clear water and so on until wall is all cleaned. Then use a woolsen cloth saturated with linseed oil, rub it over the entire surface. They to accomplish.
DOWN quilts or small feather or down pillows which have become home with very little trouble or expense. First choose a good day, for the drying is half the battle, and you need plenty of sunshine and a gentle wind. Use lukewarm water and one of the many pure soaps that are in the market just now, and avoid a washboard. It won't be of any help and it will certainly pull your quilt or pillow out of shape. Rub thoroughly with the soap, squeezing and putting with your hands as you might find woolen underwear. Rinse in two or three clear waters, and hang up to dry in the sunlight. A dash of salt in the water will keep the colors from fading.

FOR THE WRINKLES AROUND THE MOUTH CAUSED BY PUBLIC SPEAKING.

BATHING CAPS

IN the water one need not be at a fright if the summer models for bathing caps be copied. They are the pretty little boudoir types followed in rubberized silk or satin, and there is variety in the models that are sold.
The round shape with a pinched ruche and a pert bow at one side is very becoming. It can be of silk, made to be worn over a rubber cap. Then there is the Dutch cap, with turned-back flaps and rosettes at each side over the ears.
The full crown and the folded brim that gives a flat effect, around the face are easily used for bathing caps.

PUTS POEMS INTO TYPE AS HE COMPOSES THEM

Julian Hawthorne Busy at Work on Cases at the Federal Prison.

A slim, slightly above medium height man, bent a little with the age that shows in his snow white hair and mustache of the same white shade, can be seen at the federal prison every week day, bending over "cases" dictating type and putting it in the "galley" to be "proofed."

He is as brown as an Indian, and his face shines with a kindly smile as he pauses now and then.

The smile is a reflection of some bright and happy thought suddenly borne into the rightness of his brain, and his fingers move rapidly over the case as he selects the letters that will put them into print.

He is Julian Hawthorne, son of Nathaniel Hawthorne, the great American poet, prose writer whose work is read among the masterpieces of English literature.

Julian Hawthorne's prose and poetry since he has been a prisoner have gained him a national reputation, aided by the poems he has given him as account of being the son of Nathaniel Hawthorne.

At his composing his work he puts it into type. He is a compositor, as well as writer, and enjoys the mechanical production of literature almost as much as authorship.

Hawthorne is now entering upon the last month of his year-and-a-day term of imprisonment, which expires on October 11. He was convicted on Boston courts of using the United States mails to defraud in connection with a magazine, "Good Words."

Hawthorne has refused to see reporters or magazine writers since his incarceration, and has issued no statement about his case. He spends his time in the printing room, and writes many articles for the monthly prison magazine, "Good Words."

Although Hawthorne refused to see reporters or magazine writers since his incarceration, and has issued no statement about his case. He spends his time in the printing room, and writes many articles for the monthly prison magazine, "Good Words."

He has not yet decided what he will do when released in October. None of the fifteen children have come to see him since he has been in Atlanta. Apparently, he has not been in contact with any of his family.

Lured With the Indians. He is now 39 years of age. During his lifetime he has followed various pursuits. At one time he was a newspaper man in New York. Earlier in his life he lived the west with Indian tribes, studying their tribal customs with the view of leaving accounts of them to posterity to read after the Indian should become extinct.

Stomach Trouble; Wholly Restored!

Mrs. Wilson
Resident, 114
Noble St.,
Toledo, Ohio,
writes:

"I feel like a new person. I have no more heavy feelings, no more pain, don't belch up gas, can eat most anything without it hurting me. I want to be working all the time. I have gained twenty-four pounds."

"People that see me now and saw me two months ago seem astonished. I tell them Perina did it. I will say it is the only remedy for spring and all other ailments."

No operation is needed for Perina. Just get a bottle and try it. If you have stomach trouble, you will find a serious trouble. If you want to find a remedy it would be very easy to make the experiment. Before you have taken Perina a week you will likely find yourself better. Then you will see testimonials on the plans of other people, or arguments to convince you. Until you try Perina, however, all the testimonials in the world and arguments, however logical, will not more you. Just one trial of Perina will convince you.

Persons who object to Heald medicine can now obtain Perina Tablets.

The Sash is Conspicuous on the New Paris Gowns

THE sash is the thing at present. Dame Fashion from her citadel in Paris has decreed an even greater popularity for it during the coming season than it has enjoyed during the Summer. In these illustrations, which were made in the atelier of one of the most famous of the Parisian fashion creators, the sash is shown in its newest forms. Draped Algerian-wise over a gown of velvet in two tones of blue, it is displayed in the first illustration. Of ruby ribbon with embroidered flowers and draped over a Grecian evening gown of pale pink charmeuse it adorns the second figure; while the third gown of gray blue drap de souris, with Russian coat adorned with braiding of silver, is belted with a sash of crepe de chine embellished with Japanese embroideries.

A dainty little restaurant frock of white lace flounces over a foundation of Sevres blue is finished by a sash of deep blue velvet in the next illustration, and the last, which is an evening gown of flame red, shows a sash of deep blue tulle and draperies embroidered in Sphinx beads and gold metal flowers.

Thompson Fans Fifteen But Gets Only a Tie Game As He Allows Eleven Hits

By Lester Barnes.
Knoxville, Tenn., September 12.—(Special.)—The score to the final game of the Knoxville-Atlanta series was called at the end of the eighth inning. The teams broke even, the series each having won one of the games, but this afternoon's game, like Friday's, would have been won by the locals but for one error.
Four runs of the locals were earned in the second inning, when a base on balls, followed by a double, a triple and a single, a hit batsman and another double gave the Knoxville a four-run lead.
In the next inning the visitors got three earned runs, but tied the score in the fourth through an error and a passed ball.
Although Thompson struck out fifteen men and kept the locals from scoring except in the second frame, Lefty Merritt, who defeated the Crackers Thursday afternoon, really outpitched the former University of Georgia star. The locals got eleven hits off Thompson, while Merritt was hit only once. In the third, the Smith men got more than one hit.
In the third inning after a Dunn struck out Thompson and Agler singled, the third base runner, Dunn, was tripled to right field, while Long also scored on Weckesser's sacrifice fly to right.
Balanced, first up in the fourth was given a base on balls and Holland stepped. Mangan then out to first and Holland struck a second. Dunn, the batter's choice, Mangan dropping the ball, but recovered in time to throw Holland out at home. Holland taking third on the play. A passed ball an

Cotton States Tennis Title Won by Atlantian; Doubles Still Undecided

By Carl Taylor.
The Smith-Brooks match was not as brilliant and hard fought as was expected by the large crowd that gathered out to look on at the match. The match was easily won by the Smiths, who were the first to win the match in quick fashion.
Brooks, who seemed new to these courts, not having played on them before, only times showed flashes of brilliancy, with which he won the match in 1911.
He seemed particularly strong at the net and would have given a better account of himself had he had more practice in the local courts.
The doubles match between Smith and Cartlett of Birmingham in the first round of the tournament was decided in the later part of the afternoon. The match was seen in a long while.
The play of the scheduled five were played Saturday and with the count of the field and prevented further work.
The play of the two teams was radically different and the fans were all the Birmingham boys were a

"The Old Time Fan" Pays Tribute to Game Crackers And Their Game Backers

By Charles A. Lamm.
What? Well, I should never get the whole thing, but I get brimstone have no terrors for Mr. Michael. As the leader of our champions, he has the Cleveland side to a post that's saying a whole lot.
But the awful wallops handed to the Gulls by Mr. B. Smith and his crackers were a little more than a stone. They laid their waste out and put sand in their slits. That's the answer to it all.
The record of the Atlanta team during the last home stay has never been approached in the annals of Southern baseball. It was far and away the best team that ever lived in the diamond. The undisciplined players, both of home and abroad, couldn't be rallied. Their achievements were marvellous.
As for Manager Billy Smith, he was the job, too. In and out, from start to finish. He is energetic, brave and resourceful and he has made the most popular manager among the fans of all Atlanta.
The local directors, when they heard his present contract to include his salary, paid a remarkable tribute to a remarkable man. Long may he live.

CHAS. McDONALD REGAINS LEAD JOSEPH AND TYRUS TIED FOR HONORS

In Finals for the Golf Championship of Athletic Club. Winners Decided in Two Flights.

By Carl Taylor.
George Taylor, one of the veteran golfers of the Atlanta Athletic Club, will meet R. G. Bird in the final of the championship of the club. This is the seventh year that the golf championship of the club has been decided. Neither of the contestants this year had won a leg up the trophy in previous years.
In 1907 and 1908, R. G. Bird was the winner. In 1909 and 1910, R. T. Bird won. In 1911, H. C. Scott carried off the trophy.
Mr. Tittler was the only former winner who contested in the present season of 3 up and 2 to play.
Birdy Adair and Frank Adair, winners in the second flight will meet in the final of the second flight.
Winter Airfield won the third flight cup by defeating W. M. Macdonald by a score of 2 up and 1 to play.
In the fourth flight, G. L. Simpson meets T. Ingram in the eighth round.
The class of golf throughout the country has been excellent. Many close matches marked the play in all four flights and the final of the championship is certain to be a large affair.

LOTS! LOTS! LOTS!

THE WISE investor in lots buys where water, gas, electricity and other improvements already have been passed up and are assured, and where street cars are certain to reach the property--then values are established, and you are assured of a profit. But buy now, for if the car line, far out in the country, where modern accommodations are certain not to come for many, many years, if ever, is not only unwise, but a sure method of tying up capital that would otherwise be "working" for you. It's like putting money in a rat hole.

OUR "BROWNWOOD PARK" lots are not only within the city limits, but face for a distance of 2,113 feet, on a beautiful elevated boulevard 70 feet in width, having water, sewer, electricity and street car line in front thereof, and with gas assured. Most of the lots are beautifully shaded, level, and vary in width from 52 to 70 feet. This is the cheapest high-class subdivision in or about Atlanta, and such restrictions regarding the erection of stores, sanatoriums, hospitals, side and front building lines and cost of houses to be erected thereon have been placed on it as will assure every owner thorough protection now and for all time to come.

Houses must be set a certain distance back from both the side and front line, so you will always have plenty of light and air. The lots are extremely cheap, considering their large size, elegance, convenience and location, they ranging in price from ONLY $420 to $1,150. The terms are very easy, only 10 per cent down, balance monthly, running to five years' time, if desired.

If you want to buy in an exclusive section, at a low price, where protection and comfort is guaranteed, away from cheap "dollar-a-week" homes and neighbors, yet have the beautiful woods, air and breezes of the country, all within 15 minutes' ride from the center of Atlanta, take the Soldiers' Home car Sunday, get off at South Moreland and Greenwood Avenues, and take in all that beautiful wooded tract to the east of Moreland Avenue; select the location you want and come in to see us.

ADAIR'S LIST

BUILDING LOTS

$150 TO $12,000.

BELOW We offer a number of lots from each good residence section of the city.

These lots are a fair example of each section and have been selected with a view of giving the purchaser, whether he be a home-builder or an investor, the best to be had in location and in value.

The price—$150 to $12,000—the terms, which can be made surprisingly easy, gives each man an opportunity to secure a lot in his own section and at a price that will suit his pocket-book.

$150 TO $400.

ON WYLLIE STREET, between the Georgia Railroad and Peachtree and Moreland avenues, we have a tract of land that has been cut up into building lots.

These lots are just a few blocks from car line and DuKalm avenue, in a section where improvements are being made every day.

An opportunity is offered here to get a lot suitable for building purposes at the lowest possible price. Each lot is 40x120 feet, and range in price from $150 to $400.

$900 TO $1,500.

BETWEEN STEWART AVENUE and West End on Brookline, Elbert and Catherine streets, we have a few splendid lots, 50x150 feet in size.

These lots have plenty of shade trees, and all possible conveniences, with just enough building restrictions to protect the home.

In this residential park is a new city school, city park, and a new city street, being only 15 minutes' ride from town. The terms on this property can be made to suit the purchaser.

$1,750 TO $1,800.

ON LAWTON STREET, one of West End's most desirable streets, just about 180 feet from Gordon street, we have two lots, 50x150 feet.

Considering the street, the convenience to car line, Howell Park and the desirable location, and as a residence section, these lots are very reasonable at $1,750 each. Easy terms.

ON SOUTH GORDON STREET, we offer two lots, one 50x150 feet, the other 50x165 feet, both having an alley in the rear. These lots are just a few blocks from the car line, and are practically the only two vacant lots left in this desirable block. Price, $1,750. Easy terms.

ON THIRTEENTH STREET, between Peachtree street and Piedmont avenue, we offer a number of lots, 12-foot alley. The proximity of close-in building section and the only vacant corner for blocks around, make it especially desirable for a handsome home or an apartment house. Price, $12,000. Terms.

ON PEACHTREE CIRCLE, just off Peachtree and Fifteenth streets, fronting the wide plan formed by three streets and facing some of Atlanta's handsomest homes, we offer a lot 100x224 feet. This represents the very best to be had in residence property. Price, $11,500. Terms.

ON THE CORNER OF SEVENTEENTH and Peachtree Circle, we offer a lot, 100x224 feet to an alley. This is a fine block from Peachtree street, and since it is in Atlanta's most desirable section, and being the only vacant corner for blocks around, make it especially desirable for a handsome home or an apartment house. Price, $12,000. Terms.

BETWEEN Twelfth, Thirteenth and Fourteenth streets, on PIEDMONT avenue, we offer a number of lots, 120 feet each, ranging in price from $115 to $165 per foot. These lots are the only available ones in this section suitable for high-class homes.

This property has plenty of shade trees, face east and beautiful Piedmont Park. Atlanta's most valuable location, and should make this property doubly valuable for home. This fact will be appreciated when you take a look at the average crowded residence street. There is no property anywhere in Atlanta that is quite as valuable for apartment houses as this. The price on these lots will range from about $7,500 to $10,000.

ON PEACHTREE ROAD, this side of "Buckhead," in what is known as "Buckhead Circle," we offer a nicely shaded lot, 100x150 feet. This lot faces east and is one of the prettiest on Peachtree road.

Since everybody is familiar with this section of Peachtree, it can readily be seen that this is a bargain at $5,000. Terms.

JUST beyond Buckhead, we offer a lot fronting 200 feet on Plaster's Bridge, with a frontage of 350 feet on Roswell Road. This is a block of 500 feet, offers all sorts of opportunities. Price, $4,000. Terms.

GAUGES FOR THE COAST PROMOTERS ARE THROUGH WITH HEAVIES—NEW YORK TO STAGE AN ELIMINATION TOURNEY SHORTLY.

By JAMES A. CORBETT.
(Former Heavyweight Champion of the World. Written for The Constitution.)
New York, September 13.—(Special.) From McGraw's announcement that he is thought with the heavyweights and that he will stage no more battles between big men of the ring in the Verano arena means the number of so-called "white boys" will make the grand push in the general direction of New York, and other cities, where the sport thrives.
In fact, the rush may be said to have already begun. Charley Miller, the San Francisco champion, has been in the ring in the last two weeks. Charley was introduced in the ring the night of the Moran-Palmer fight and he was introduced in the street by a group of young fellows who were looking for a fight. Charley was a big fellow, a big fellow who had a glimpse at the big show that he can qualify for the matter of size at any rate. I am told he is in the neighborhood of 225 in fighting shape.
The probability is New York will be covered with big men, and local boxing promoters are quite enthusiastic about the prospect for matches between the best men in the division. Willie, the champion, Frank Moran and Miller on the ground and Arthur Pyle, the champion, and Carl Morris expected to bust in anytime. The big men are expected to come, some lively fellows, and some old money. Plenty of good material in that bunch of jokers and the local spring has rolled around we ought to have a good line on the ground for an early resumption of white rule in Atlanta.
Moran Years Top.
The process of eliminating heavyweights from the championship race was renewed with last week's battle between Frank Moran and Carl Morris. Moran, who up to the time had been improved Pittsburgh boxer, and Al Palmer, who up to the time had been the white division in the ring, were both improved wonderfully within the past twelve months. It is in the opinion of many men, Al Palmer and Carl Morris, who are the best of the division, have been related to the race by the present champion, Smith, Moran and Palmer. Palmer was graduated from the ranks in pugilism and must be given serious consideration as a challenger to the heavyweight championship from now on.
Moran took a short rest after his fight with Palmer, but he is expected to be out for him if he decides to box. Moran has been already in the ring before at San Francisco in a twenty-round bout and was victorious. It looks like a sure bet, taking lines from the recent performance of both boys, that the next time they clash the mill will not go that easily. Palmer and Moran are slugging and should furnish the crowd with some of the whitest affairs they so delight in looking at.
Local fans are clamoring for this match to be closed in the near future, however, if the bout is arranged for the very near future, there will be a deadlock between the men on the question of location. It is a fact that the Madison Square Garden box has Smith's signature on it, but that arena, while the St. Nicholas Athletic Club, matchmaker claims that Moran has agreed to fight at his clubhouse. And there you are. If the managers of the fight and the club representatives can come to an agreement it is probable the match will be staged early in October. But just now the outlook for the match is not so favorable.
Before last week's battle Palmer was considered by local wisecracks as the "white" slacker, and Moran, by virtue of his easy victory, has taken all the place in heavyweight pugilism. A match between Frank and "Gumbo" is greatly to be desired, for the very reason that it will give the local sequence of last week's heavyweights. And it looks like a sure bet, drawing card in itself. I sincerely hope the parties who are interested in the fight will permit their differences of opinion to interfere with the fight. It is the heaviest match of the year.
Palmer a Disappointment.
As for Palmer, he has a great deal of work to do. He is a great fighter and a great boxer, but he is a disappointment to his friends and to his handler and trainer. Tom Burke, who has been his handler and trainer, has not yet lost all faith in his big fighter, but he is a disappointment to his friends and to his handler and trainer. Tom Burke, who has been his handler and trainer, has not yet lost all faith in his big fighter, but he is a disappointment to his friends and to his handler and trainer.

Use Auto Envelopes and Boost Atlanta

Mr. Business Man, Greetings:
This is to inform you that if you are not using the envelope advertising the Atlanta automobile show, which will be held in November, you are verging on the back-number class as a booster.
To date there are 125 business concerns in the city using upwards of 250,000 of these envelopes in their business correspondence, thus helping to spread abroad in the land the fame of the greatest automobile show that has ever been held south of Mason and Dixon line.
R. N. Reed, of the Reed Oil Company, chairman of the show committee, or Willie West, of the Firestone Tire and Rubber Company, also a member of the committee, will be glad to furnish you the details.
Only Natural Charge.
A nominal charge, merely covering the cost of printing, is made for these envelopes. It is made in this way: the business man who will use, but who has no money for nothing, will be charged ten cents, go to the waste basket, "let 'em go," and the charge is made. It is not a business proposition and at the same time it is. To make clear a nominal charge for nothing, will be charged ten cents, go to the waste basket, "let 'em go," and the charge is made. It is not a business proposition and at the same time it is.
Incidentally, this charge is not made as a business proposition and at the same time it is. To make clear a nominal charge for nothing, will be charged ten cents, go to the waste basket, "let 'em go," and the charge is made. It is not a business proposition and at the same time it is.
Call early and avoid the rush—be first.

STUDEBAKERS SEND BEESON TO ATLANTA

Comes From Denver To 'Take Charge of Atlanta Branch' of Company.
From its headquarters in Detroit the Studebaker Corporation of America, through the office of W. B. Beeson, announces the appointment of W. B. Beeson, as manager of the Atlanta branch. Mr. Beeson has arrived in Atlanta and has taken charge of the entire business of the branch. The handsome new building of which is on Peachtree street, has been an especially fine center for several days due to the large number of Studebaker dealers from Georgia and surrounding states who have called to meet the new South Atlantic representative.

Mr. Beeson comes to Atlanta from Denver, where he has been manager of the Studebaker branch since the month of March, 1914. He has been in the business for some time and has a wide knowledge of the automobile industry. He has been in the business for some time and has a wide knowledge of the automobile industry. TIRE INFLATION
By M. L. Greenwald.
Inflate slow at first. There are a great many views as to the proper pressure to use on a tire. The front tire is to be inflated to a pressure equivalent to the weight of the car. The rear tire is to be inflated to a pressure equivalent to the weight of the car. The front tire is to be inflated to a pressure equivalent to the weight of the car. Paducah Wins Kitty Flag
Paducah won the Kitty Flag pennant today by defeating Louisville in the third game of the series. The final to the series was a close and exciting contest. When Paducah came to Louisville for the series, it was necessary for them to defeat Louisville in the third game. Heavy hitting and effective pitching turned the trick.

Factors of Safety
The case of a man in the Yuma, Mich., who on the 24th occasion of his seeking the surgical operating table, has parted with a hand, a leg, an arm, and a portion of his liver, aroused speculation. How many more of our people are in the same predicament? Dr. J. M. Metzger, head physician of the Rockefeller Institute, might answer the question with scientific precision.

AND VIEWS OF LATE MAYOR ON HIS FARM

Pretty Montgomery Girl

MISS JESSIE STEWART.
One of the most popular society girls of the Alabama capital.

SOCIAL LIFE IN MACON

Macon, Ga., September 13.—(Special Correspondence)—Two delightful dances for the college set were special features of last week's entertaining. The first, on Tuesday evening, was a subscription dance given by a number of young men at the Log Cabin. The chaperons, most of whom resided in the dance with as much enthusiasm as the unmarried contingent, were: Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Simmons, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Sparks, Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Peeler, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Massey and Mr. and Mrs. Mattie Solomon. A number of the young ladies present were "new blood," who left later in the week for various finishing schools. Misses Fitch, Holmes, Allene Outhman, Margaret Kerr and Iola Wise. Three popular visitors were Miss Carolyn Oliver, of America, the charming young sister of Mrs. O. J. Massey; Miss Janet Hinkley, of Sandusky; and Miss Mary Carl Harst, of Atlanta. Among the dancers were: Misses Beanie Burre, Gladys Schofield, Helen Barris, Laura T. Key and Emma Powers, Maesie, Ben Williamson, H. B. Adams, Basil Wise, Harry Oliver, Emmett Pether, Randolph Jaques, Tom Macy, Harry Kendall, Jr., Ruffin Chentley, Rob Schorfer, J. Bob Heaton, Robert Falkner, Oliver Barkdale, William Wood, Kibbie Cramer, Philip Pallant and Will Miller.

Thursday evening Mr. and Mrs. Patton Hatcher entertained a dinner of the college set at an informal dance at their attractive home in Vineville. The affair was in the nature of a farewell to Miss Mary Plant and Mr. Graeme Plant, the former leaving this week for Shuter college at Rome, while Graeme will be at a preparatory school in New Haven prior to entering Yale. Miss Iola Holt was hostess at a pretty luncheon at the tavern Tuesday, her guests being four pretty young girls who leave this week for colleges in other states. Misses Iola Wise and Winifred Wadley are at the Mary Baldwin college in Staunton, Va.; Misses Fitch Holmes and Louise Curry returning to Hollins institute.

Miss Jessie Lewis entertained a congenial party of young people at a most enjoyable evening party Tuesday in honor of Miss Nancy Carl Bryan, of Florida, who spent last week with Miss Lewis.

Fall Millinery Opening

Monday, Tuesday & Wednesday
we formally present the new

Paris &amp; New York Hats

together with many of our own equally beautiful creations

—Formal opening tomorrow of the genuine and exclusive autumn and winter styles that can only be seen by a visit to Rich's.

—The best of Paris Millinery is always lovely; but we think beauty and smartness were never before so successfully combined as in these new Hats.

—Exquisite materials have been made by master artists into Hats which when correctly posed on the head will bring the exclamation: "Ah, that is Paris!"

—Among the Paris Hats we note original Models from Gorgette, Maison Lewis, Louise and Varon. Kurzman, of New York, is represented by half a dozen or more hats, as, too, is Joseph.

—We shall not attempt description. Who can really describe a beautiful Hat?

—Harmony, however, is the keynote. Harmony in line, color and trimmings. The hats are soft and light in weight. Simplicity rules. Velvets and plushes are the favored materials; Gorge and Paradise feathers. Skunk and the new Fitch fur and metal French flowers lead in trimmings. Black and quite rich colors have the call.

—The exhibit is the most important that has yet been made. The hats have been placed in a proper setting of Palms and Beauty. We shall be very glad to have you see them.

Accurate First-Hand Information of the Very Best of the Fall Styles

—The fashions you have read about; the materials you have discussed; the hats, silks, dresses and accessories you have "dreamed over"—all are here for you to see, to handle, to examine with critical thought.

—A half hour spent with these new goods will give you more intelligent information concerning the correct Fall Styles than a month spent in reading advertisements or fashion magazines. The showing is informal. Browse about as you will. Buy or not as you choose; you know you are very welcome.

New Silks

From Over the Seas
Will be Shown in all Their Beauty Monday

In all the thousands of years that silk has been the royal fabric, it is doubtful if it has ever been so charming as it is today.

Every woman who loves beautiful things is cordially invited to come and feast her eyes Monday.

Rich's Suit Store Is a Little Paris

Accurately Reflecting the Capital of Fashion
With Scores of Reproduced French Models

The art of costuming a woman rightly may be classed as one of the fine arts, and the most skilled artists of today are the French. They live among their museums, their galleries, and their traditions of beauty, with constant promptings to create new loveliness out of the old.

Our exclusive New York suppliers, each a star in the tailoring world, import Paris models, with full right to copy—and hundreds of the wonderful fashions are here for you to see and admire.

Fur Trimming Distinguishes Most of These Charming Paris-Copies

Seven out of every ten suits imported from Paris this season show fur trimmings. In these Paris Reproductions less expensive furs have been used, otherwise the cost would be prohibitive. As it is prices are very reasonable.

At $65—A Paul Poiret model of Russian Green Broadcloth with Russian blouse effect, belted and trimmed with velvet to match. Skunk fur trimmed.

At $75—An original model in Bayadere Broadcloth. Plum-colored cutaway with black moire seal. Fur trimmed.

At $75—A Drecoll model in navy blue plush. Long cutaway coat. Fur trimmed.

At $85—A terra cotta Dreyfus cutaway coat, after Beckhoff-David. Fur trimmed.

At $90—A heavy corded Bengaline silk, in navy blue. Cutaway coat. Fur trimmed.

Other suits range in price as low as $13.75, with especially strong assortments at $19.75, $25 and $35.

New Waistcoats

A Mannish Idea Feminized
for Smart Women Dressers

In fashion centers well-dressed women are taking freely to these new waistcoats. They are a feminized edition of man's traditional Waistcoat, buck strap, U neck, pockets and all; but they do not look in the least masculine. They are made of the finest brocades, of hand-embroidered satins and silks, of beautifully patterned novelty velvets, of moire, of brocades. They are wonderful color accessories, transforming the high note of a costume effectively. Prices are $10, $12.50 and $15.

(Ready-to-Wear—Second Floor.)

Medici Ruffs &amp; Neckwear

Milady's Fashionable Neckwear Adapted from Former Days

Fashion oft reverts to old paintings for ideas. Pictures of the Medici family, which flourished in Florence, Italy, in the fourteenth, fifteenth and sixteenth centuries, show much the same high outstanding ruffs and ruchings. Ruffs are of maline in white and black, blue and green, solid brown or black and white in combination with black, white with blue, green with blue. $1.75 and $2.50.

Ruchings are of plain or net, maline and chiffon combined with shadow lace. All white. 35c and 50c a yard.

STORIES OF WALL STREET

Drawing by D. RUSSOM.

The Call of the Street V.

AS the taxicab whirled round the corner, and the rumble of the wheels upon the cobblestones replaced by the liquid swish of the tires upon Fifth Avenue's asphalt, Steele turned suddenly, looking at his wife.

He had an impression that she had spoken and that he, momentarily lost in the intricacies of the Interstate Tunnel deal, had neglected to answer her. "What did you say, Sara?" he asked. But his words were drowned in the roar of a passing Forty-second street car.

"What was it, dear?" he asked. "What was it you said a while back?"

"I said," with rising inflection, Steele frowned in perplexity, trying to remember.

"Just as I closed the door," he helped. "I thought you asked a question—was thinking of something else at the moment."

"Oh! Of course you were thinking of something else, Jim. I was always thinking of something else, Jim. There was a note of persistence in her voice that puzzled him. "And that was what I asked. It was silly enough—I said, 'A penny for your thoughts.' Extravagant, for I knew you were thinking of business."

He felt vaguely that he was being indicted and began clumsily to defend himself.

"Yes. You were right. Affairs in rather a mix up just now, little girl; they bother a chap. Important deal on—"

"Always, always," she commented, wearily—even a trifle bitterly.

While he fumbled with his keys, she shivered noticeably in the brisk air of the early morning hours.

"Cold, dear?" he asked, roused out of his affairs for the moment.

Smiling up at him, "A wee bit," she confessed. "But happy, Jim."

"Et?" He stared. "Happy?"

"Happy," she repeated with a low laugh as the door swung open.

Steele gazed after her, bewildered, while he shot the bolts. Then he followed her upstairs, heavily. Ten minutes later, she looked up from her dressing table to see him standing in the doorway of her boudoir, glowing down upon her. He had exchanged his dress coat for a quilted smoking jacket, his shoes for slippers, and was smoking.

She smiled, struck by the grotesque figure he made.

"Well," she queried, archly, her hands busy with her hair.

"What made you say that, Sara?" he demanded, bluntly.

Her eyes widened.

"Say what, Jim?"

"About being happy. What made you mention it? Why are you so happy to-night than any other?"

"Aren't you generally happy, little girl?"

She rose, came over to him, kissed him. Then, fumbling with a frog on his jacket, "I was more happy to-night than usually," she admitted. "I suppose generally—I'm as happy as I've any right to be, dear."

"I don't understand. His face showed that plainly. "Why—to-night especially?"

"Because my husband was with me—don't you see? I wonder." She paused.

"I wonder if you realize how little, how very little of your time you give your wife, Jim?"

"Why—I—"

he stammered awkwardly, struggling with a really new idea. This had never occurred to him before.

"You are away all day," she went on—not complaining, but making a calm statement of fact—and every night you are off to the club, or some place, I know, but—"

Why, I barely ever have you to myself, Jim. Tonight, the opera, the music, the lights, with you—why, it was like an oasis to me—an oasis in a weary, handless desert." She laughed nervously.

"But—but business—" he tried to object, realizing the justice of her finding.

"Is there nothing in life but Wall Street?" she pleaded softly.

"Can you give it up, Jim, before long, for my sake? Why should you keep on and on forever, wearing your life out—for what? You've made a comfortable fortune, dear; it's enough to last the rest of our lives and give the boy a good start besides. Why need you keep it up, always, at the expense of your health and your family? You know that Dr. Dexter warned you to take a rest last month, and you laughed at him, and—"

"Oh, Dexter!" he derided. "He doesn't understand. Neither do you, little girl. Why, what'll I do, anyhow? Not! His mouth straightened into a firm hard line; he had settled the matter, man-like, forgetting the original issue—her happiness, not his own. "No, I can't give it up. It would be foolishness with—" prospects, my career. No, you don't understand. He decided to comfort her with a platitude. "Men must work and women must weep," you know.

"Why must we weep? Why must men work incessantly?"

"The law of life," he told her with portentous gravity. He began to enumerate her blessings, exclusive of himself. "I don't think you've any reason to complain, Sara. You're the luckiest girl in the city."

He persisted. "You have household duties, your friends—"

"I'd like to have more of my husband," she contended, stubbornly.

From which attitude he failed to move her.

Naturally enough, perhaps, the element of the unfortunates figures largely in the life of the Street. On the following afternoon, Steele's deal in Interstate Tunnel came to an unexpected end—to a successful culmination.

The clique of men who, desiring to obtain control of the Interstate Tunnel Company, had combined their interests and put Steele at their head, allowing him full discretion—thereby forming what was termed a "blind pool"—had calculated that his campaign would be one of weeks, if not of months, before their act was attained.

As it happened, however, another combination had been formed with precisely the same object, thereby creating an unusual demand for Tunnel Common—so unusual, in fact, that the market price went up by leaps and bounds, and the trading in Tunnel Common became the feature of the day.

But, about two o'clock in the afternoon, the ticker ceased to record transactions in Tunnel Common; the demand had outlasted the supply; a "natural corner" had resulted.

When he realized what had happened, Steele told himself that his work for the day was done. He could return to his office and count the gains and receive the congratulations of his associates.

As he was about to leave the floor, however, the staircase rapping of the gavel on the nostrum made him pause. He knew, or suspected, what was coming, and would not have missed it for much. A slight laugh succeeding the frenzied uproar that had prevailed in the board room, he was able to hear the chairman's voice as it boomed out over the heads of the brokers, announcing the suspension of Belden & Tausig.

Steele smiled grimly under his mustache.

"Belden will think twice, I guess, before he monkeys with the buzz-saw again," he thought as he crossed Broad street to the Mills building.

At the same time he was both surprised and disappointed to find that he was experiencing nothing of elation.

Even his success in obtaining the control of Interstate Tunnel seemed a night you are off to the club, or some place, I know, but—"

Why, I barely ever have you to myself, Jim. Tonight, the opera, the music, the lights, with you—why, it was like an oasis to me—an oasis in a weary, handless desert." She laughed nervously.

"But—but business—" he tried to object, realizing the justice of her finding.

"Is there nothing in life but Wall Street?" she pleaded softly.

"Can you give it up, Jim, before long, for my sake? Why should you keep on and on forever, wearing your life out—for what? You've made a comfortable fortune, dear; it's enough to last the rest of our lives and give the self, for the time the room swam before him; he was shaken by a little gust of febrile rage, which, he later considered, must have seemed childishly spiteful.

"Oh, go to the devil!" he cried, whirling upon his heel to face Belden. "You—you get out of my office—I'll have nothing to do with you!"

Instantly Steele began to regret; also he was somewhat scared; the passion which had gripped him so strongly that he had forgotten himself was a new thing in his experience.

He had never made such an exhibition of himself—to his knowledge, at least—so causelessly. He glanced around the room, shame-faced, wondering who had witnessed his transport.

There were two witnesses; Hunt, office partner of the firm of C. D. Hunt & Wilder, through which Steele cleared his transactions, and in whose offices he was accorded a desk as a courtesy; and a stranger to Steele—a stout man, florid of complexion, thick-set. Him Steele intuitively knew for Tausig, Belden's partner.

"Oh," he said, shortly, "you're Tausig?" The fellow nodded. "The nothing ended, when the three of them were to go abroad."

As for Mrs. Steele she was radiant—happy for the first time in her twelve years of married life she had this what she most desired in all the world—the first place in the thoughts of her husband. For it was an understanding of his discharge from a sanitarium as convalescent—a discharge accompanied by a warning that he would return to business life within three years at his peril—a few weeks had been put in at Palm Beach. Now Steele and his wife were to spend a few weeks in town until their son's spring term at school should be over. Steele ended, when the three of them were to go abroad."

"No, no; I'm not going to go into the market at all. I'm through with all that; it's behind me. I'm merely going to sever the last tie that binds me to the Street."

"You promised, you know," she reminded him, dubiously, for she knew his weakness—being the man's wife—"I promised, sweetheart, I've assented, again laughing, and I give you my word again."

And with that pledge sealed warm upon his lips, she let him go; not, however, without misgivings stirring deep in her heart.

But once in the elevated train, bound downtown, he forgot that in the interest aroused by a prominent article on the financial page of his newspaper. It was one of those rare, infrequent accounts which sometimes see the light, written by an "insider," an expert, detailing with fine insight just what motives were then actuating the bear element in the furious raid it was making upon industrial securities. In particular, Steele gathered that the clique headed by Tom West, his dearest rival of the old days, was hammering Tennessee Rope & Twine. Steele considered such action unusual; West, he allowed, was a natural-born pessimist in regard to stock values, but that was no excuse for his making T. R. & T. his shining mark. Steele happened to know a good deal concerning that stock and thousand Rope and Twine at 65," he added, almost in jest.

"Done!" cried Steele, mechanically, as though he had suddenly awakened from a dream.

A whisper stole around the room: "Steele's back—buying Rope & Twine. Must have an inside tip." Others, so believing, began to buy. West's associates became alarmed; they had anticipated a reaction, but not so early in the day. They launched ten thousand shares at the market, which soaked them up as greedily as a sponge. They decided that it would be policy to cover without delay, at a loss if necessary, and the consequent buying orders caused the rally to become an irresistible upward surge.

nouncing to Belden in their private office. "I hear Steele's back on the floor."

"He is," Belden licked his thin lips, glancing furtively at his partner. Tausig did not doubt his sincerity.

To Steele's relief his prolonged absence of the day before had passed unnoticed; at least, Mrs. Steele made no comment. But, as he rose from the breakfast table, he felt that the moment for an explanation was at hand. Her eye was upon him, and he was fain to avoid it.

"I am sorry, dear," he said, uneasily, "but I must go downtown again to-day. I—I have to consult with Morton."

He named the broker, for it was not strictly untrue; he did mean to see Morton, for a minute or two, if he found time. "You have sold your seat?" she asked, abruptly.

"I—er—Hunt was not ready yesterday. It'll be settled in a day or so."

As yet he shrank from the lie direct, but the following day a new subterfuge must be invented; he dared not tell her the truth.

"I find," he said glibly—having him thought it out beforehand, during a sleepless portion of the night—"that I will have to spend several days—perhaps a week—at the office. A matter has cropped up requiring my attention."

A week passed. The issue grew, became a wall between the man and the woman. Finally it might no longer be evaded.

"I'm involved in the market," he told her, slyly, with a dogged air.

"Jim?"

He cringed.

"I can't help it, Sara—it's beyond helping now. I'm sorry, but I saw the chance, I thought to make a few thousands and—"

"But Jim!" He looked quickly away from the pain in her eyes. "But Jim, you gave me your word!"

"I know, I—"

He floundered miserably under her accusing glare. "But it can't be helped. In a few days—a week, at the outside—I hope to have it very white and apparently drawn, and all fixed. And that will be the end, Sara!"

Steele did not answer; Steele's primal impression was that she was refusing to listen. Then he saw that she was, for the instant, unable to give him her attention.

She had pushed back her chair, as though intending to rise; on the contrary, she seemed held down, as though by an invisible hand—struggling vainly. She had turned from him averting her face. Steele could see no more than the full curve of her cheek; and that, whitened to a pallor beneath his gaze. Unconsciously her left hand went toward the region of her heart, clutching at the folds of her morning gown. Steele hurried toward her.

"Sara!" he cried a second time. "Is it your heart, dear—the old trouble?"

"Yes," she said faintly. "It—it's gone now. I am all right."

"I'll send for Dr. Dexter, at once," he proposed.

"It is unnecessary," She rose, coldly ignoring his proffered arm. He followed her toward the door. "He was here yesterday. I tell you—it is nothing. Now, I'm going to the office. I am all right."

"Go!"

"But—" she insisted, dearly. "Don't pretend to worry about me. I—"

"At least, will not go?" he cried. "At least, will I know?"

"It is getting late," she reminded him, quietly. "The exchange opens within an hour. You must be gone at once. Don't think of me—think of the money you have to share."

He had no answer. It was true—he had no choice but to consider the money; his presence upon the floor at the opening was an imperative necessity. While he hesitated, considering that phase of the case, she brushed past him and left the room.

THE REUNION OF THE G. A. R. AT CHATTANOOGA—Commander Beers and His Staff Arrive.

Chattanooga, Tenn., September 12.—The myriad of Atlanta flags unfurled in the September breeze this morning and the sound of martial music heard throughout the day from arriving bands, and the hundreds of grizzled veterans, some wearing badges of honor achieved for gallantry on the battlefields of the world's greatest war; some with armless sleeves, and some on crutches, for greater evidence of the evidence of the near approach of the forty-seventh annual encampment of the G. A. R. was to be formally inaugurated here Monday.

All details of the great gathering of veterans is complete and the indications are that Chattanooga is on the point of receiving the greatest reunion in her history since the memorable gathering of blue and gray soldiers in the deadly conflict back in 1863.

The advance guard of the blue veterans' march last night when General Alfred R. Beers, commander in chief of the G. A. R., and his staff arrived. General Beers formally opened the G. A. R. headquarters at a local hotel today and at once began the preparations for the opening of the encampment.

Following the arrival of General Beers, the finishing work of decoration of the city was rushed through today. On a few of the buildings which have been decorated intertwined with the union flag may be seen the Confederate colors. There are some decorations used during the recent reunion of the United Confederate Veterans, but their use on this occasion simply lends a touch of brotherly love which of late has been distributed at all of the gatherings and reunions of the veterans of the civil war.

Services of a patriotic character at the principal churches of the city in the morning and afternoon. The Grand Army men at the encampment in the evening will be Sunday's features of the encampment. General Alfred R. Beers has opened headquarters already and Monday will find the headquarters of the various departments and divisions opening and the subordinate staffs in operation. The store of Veterans, Women's Relief Corps, Ladies and Daughters of the G. A. R., and the various organizations associated with the Grand Army of the Republic will be mobilized in Chattanooga within the next twenty-four hours.

Thoughts of the Grand Army men are already being turned toward the fact that great organization is upon the eve of selecting new officials for its guidance during the coming year. Candidates for the office of commander-in-chief will be specially noticeable to the public; they will tomorrow open headquarters at several of the principal hotels and the gathering will take on a political atmosphere to be mingled with one of sentiment for the memory of the Grand Army men.

The meeting will be all its pleasurable excitement, must occasionally stop to mourning for the demise of an occasional comrade who has been tramped for fifty years to the camp grounds only to drop dead of exhaustion upon passing the camp. Lieutenant J. W. Barwell, a Lynn Haven, Fla., man, died entering the city at the union station. Lieutenant Barwell was a resident of Concord, N. H., before removing to Florida.

A Radium Monopoly.

Notwithstanding discovery of radium deposits during the year, the value of the declared exports from Vienna declined by more than half. Radium production has been made a federal monopoly, and the government is gradually acquiring all the districts where it is known to exist.

In nothing else, perhaps, are there greater and easier opportunities for cooperative work than in the ownership and use of improved implements and tools. You don't have to wait till everybody in the neighborhood gets waked up; you don't have to worry about the farmers generally will "stick together" or not, but all you have to do to find two or three neighbors who need something you need, and then join with them and start a business, sticking on your own account. At every local union meeting the question ought to be asked: "What opportunities are there for co-operation between two or more members?" and then every member should be given a question to make should put it forward and see who will join hands with him.—The Progressive Farmer.

Turbine Steamers Speedy.

A report from San Francisco states that the Great Northern railway intends to order steam turbines for the southern Pacific company for immediate traffic that will result from the completion of the Panama canal. International exposition in 1915. Two new twenty-eight-horsepower turbine steamers with the most modern and luxurious equipment are now being built for the Great Northern. The new Crump's yard in Philadelphia. With these ships it is expected that the trip from Seattle to San Francisco can be made in shorter time than by rail, since trains between the two cities must climb the high Sierras monthly range. If a traffic agreement between the Great Northern and the Pacific Northwest lines is entered into, the new turbine steamers will be used to carry mail by sea from Portland, Ore., to Los Angeles, Cal., as rapidly as by rail.

A reader asks, "What is the best time of the year for setting straw berry plants and the kind of land to choose?" The best time for setting strawberries is in November. They prefer level, moist land, but will thrive in any good soil.—The Progressive Farmer.

Minus Bon Hands and One Leg He Drives Paige "36" Skillfully

One hundred and fifty thousand people pass the intersection of Five Points each working day of the week, but the hours of a man who drives a Paige "36" according to an estimate recently made.

This is an average of a little over 100 people a minute crossing Atlanta's famous corner. During the same hours 1,400 vehicles, exclusive of street cars, pass by, making an average of 20 per minute for the twelve hours of the day. Of course, many of these persons and vehicles are not passing the intersection many times during the day, but still they count just the same.

It is a sole spot of congestion of traffic at this noted corner which has made Five Points a synonym for Atlanta. Everyone who has ever been in Atlanta remembers Five Points. Being located at the heart of the downtown business district, every person who has business to transact passes this corner once, if not a dozen times a day.

Following the most direct route from the north to the south side, nearly all the vehicles in the city crossing the viaduct take the right hand. As a consequence pass through Five Points. Mr. Zibbell, crippled as he is, drives a Paige "36" on the corner.

Mr. Zibbell, of Fresno, Cal., is not so fortunate. Several years ago Mr. Zibbell was the victim of an accident which caused him to lose his left arm, his right leg and right hand. As he was able to drive the accident was due to negligence on the part of the railroad company. He was able to collect $100,000 in damages, which is said to be the largest individual damage claim ever paid by any railroad.

Now, with two hands and two legs, he drives a Paige "36" on the corner. He is a man of great courage and determination. He has learned how to drive a car. ## Many Sales Are Made In DRY SUBDIVISION

The Atlanta Development company, which recently opened the subdivision on Dry street, announce sales of lots in the subdivision amounting to approximately $125,000. "We find that business is exceptionally good in this subdivision," said R. P. Jones, one of the managers of the subdivision. "There has been a tightness of money in some quarters, but I find that subdivision is very popular."

One reason for these recent sales is the fact that the subdivision is well located. It is a modern, 10-room home, on lot 50x200 feet. This place should meet all the requirements that could be possibly wanted by anyone in location, accessibility and price. The price is one that should appeal to the home-seeker of moderate means, who has a desire for a large, up-to-date home on a prominent street.

CAPITOL AVENUE BARGAIN

Gossip of Georgians in the Metropolis

By M. K. Carraway. (The Constitution's New York Bureau.) (New York, September 12.—Special.) "Ted" Coy, the former Yale football star, who was a member of the Georgia team, is in the city. He is a Georgia native and is now in the city.

A new pastor has been named in the Ocean Avenue Congregational church, in Brooklyn, on Sunday morning. He is the Rev. Edward Pavon, a native of Georgia. This church, in January, dedicated a new edifice, the Armstrongs remaining in Brooklyn to see it completed.

A wedding of interest to Georgians took place Tuesday at the home of the bride, on Newark Heights, Newark, N. J. The bride was Miss Dorothy Porter, a native of Georgia. The wedding was very quiet, attended only by a small number of relatives and friends being in attendance.

Mr. and Mrs. Kruger will make their home in Savannah, after which they will spend several days in Gotham, moved by an interest in the city. The young couple explained that they would have invited the bride to the ceremony, but they knew it would have been impossible for them to get from Montreal to Asheville in time for the wedding.

Robert C. Norton, of Savannah, who was arrested on charges of fraud, was released on bail. He is a Georgia native and is now in the city. He is a Georgia native and is now in the city. He is a Georgia native and is now in the city.
